CITY DOES ALL WORK, BUT KATZ
GETS THE MONEY*Research Bureau Says Garbage Haulers Paid $925 for Using Harbor Boat and Received $7500.*KINSEY SAYS BOARD WILL INVESTIGATE*Municipality Can Save $60,000 Yearly by Handling Disposal Itself, Atkins Declares.

Klein & Katz, holders of the city garbage disposal contract, have the city harbor boat to work for which they are paid by the city, and have given the city, under the contract, according to a charge presented today by the Bureau of Municipal Research to the Board of Public Service.

President Kinsey of the Board, after hearing the statement of C. W. Atkins, director of the Bureau, said the matter was important, and that the Board would look into it further, at a meeting to be held Friday.

As the matter was stated by Atkins to the Board, the city delivers the garbage to Klein & Katz on barges, and pays them $2.10 a ton for disposal, the contract amounting for the present fiscal year, to about $115,000, and in 1922-23, at a $1.50 rate, to $95,351.

Profit figured at $1.40 Ton. It is charged that on 15 days in 1922, from June to December, the city rented a trap boat to Klein & Katz at $25 a day, and at the same time rented them the city harbor boat, towing 10 bargeloads of garbage to the middle of the river for dumping, at a cost to Klein & Katz of $125 a load. The city harbor boat was also hired, at $150 a trip, to tow loads of two barges to Rock Island. For this service, it is stated, the city received $925 from Klein & Katz.

But for this same work, the city said Klein & Katz about $7500, at the rate of $1.60 a ton. Klein & Katz had to pay the wages of three wharves on the barges, and, figuring in this expense, Atkins estimates that Klein & Katz work for the city for 20 cents a ton, for which the city was paying them $1.60 a ton. This left Klein & Katz a profit of $1.40 a ton, Atkins figures.

Other Instances Cited. In last July and August, Atkins charges, the city harbor boat hauled five large loads to Hog Farm, charging Klein & Katz $150 a load, or $750 in all, and hauling about $20 tons. For this same job of hauling, the contract provided for $2.10 a ton, Klein & Katz got $1925. Allowing for laborers' pay, Atkins figures that Klein & Katz made a profit of $1.29 a ton on the transaction with the city.

He said it also appeared that the city had not been paid by Klein & Katz for the work done by the harbor boat in July and August, though the contract payments were made regularly.

Meyer Katz, president of Klein & Katz, figured in the Night and Day Bank failure as a large borrower from the bank, through his association with the defaulting banker, A. O. Meinelinger.

Atkins' presentation of this matter was related to the opening, at noon today, of bids for a new garbage disposal contract. He accompanied his figures with an argument, to show that the city could save money by doing its own work.

Points to Facilities. He said the city owns one trap barge, one derrick boat which could be used for unloading garbage, and the harbor boat; also that it owns Chesley Island, bought as a place for garbage disposal. The harbor boat, he said, is in service only 25 per cent of its possible working time.

"If the charge of $1.60 a ton made in the second instance cited by Klein & Katz, is the cost of this work," he said, "then the city can save 19 cents for barges and labor, and dispose of its garbage for $1.41 a ton, saving $60,000 a year."

He said the city could buy three barges for $15,000, and leave a net saving of $45,000 for the first year. Director Plank of the Department of Streets and Sewers, said, as to Atkins' recommendation for the use of Chesley Island, that this was no longer feasible. The island is frequently under water, he said.

Interruption on Telegraph Wires by Aurora Borealis*"Northern Lights" May Be Visible in St. Louis Tonight, If Sky Is Clear.

The Aurora Borealis, or "Northern Lights," may be visible to St. Louisans tonight, as telegraph lines to the city were markedly affected, supposedly by the unseen presence of this phenomenon from 12:15 until 12:40 p. m. today.

Transmission and reception of messages by the Western Union were interrupted at intervals during the period stated, and indications are that the St. Louis area was more seriously affected than other parts of the United States. The local offices of the company, however, received word from stations east and west that the Aurora Borealis was interfering with their lines.

Interruptions on Telegraph. H. V. Crain, wire chief in St. Louis for the Western Union, explained to a post-Dispatch Reporter that suspicion of the Aurora Borealis as being the mischief-maker is only a theory. Telegraph wires are grounded and so balance between positive and negative impulses that any electricity in the ground destroys the arrangement and stops service. Beginning shortly after noon today, local operators noticed breaks in their sending and were halted frequently until the wires cleared. The theory held by Western Union officials is that the "northern lights," being discharges of atmospheric electricity, somehow shift the magnetic poles of the earth temporarily or else charge the earth with electricity. Crain said that his gals measured 27 volts of electricity coming from the earth during the disturbance.

Lights Visible at Night. The Aurora Borealis is perceptible only at night and generally is not seen as far south as St. Louis. The nearest the approach to the poles, the more frequently is the phenomenon observed. During a disturbance the sky lights with wondrous colors which generally follow an arc like a rainbow from horizon to horizon. Some discharges are more vivid and of longer duration than others.

Telegraph companies report trouble from the Aurora Borealis about once a year and in 1923 the results were very severe, tying up long distance lines for several days. Monsignor Martin S. Brennan, authority on astronomy, said that it was possible that the lights would be visible here tonight if the skies were clear.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—A suicide pact is believed by relatives to have caused Mrs. Marie Osborne Bock, 20 years old, and her companion, Bernice Hinesman, to swallow poison yesterday in the washroom of a downtown motion picture theater. One died en route to the hospital and the other three hours later.

Mrs. Gena Hinesman of Bond du Lac, Wis., who was visiting her daughter here, said the girl was to be married soon to a man who resided in Boston. A sister of Mrs. Bock said the latter had married in New Orleans two years ago, after leaving her home in Arlington, Ky., but had been separated from her husband after two weeks.

"MORAL INDORSEMENT"
WHEN MAYOR SIGNS*So Jury Decides He Need Not Pay $500 for Cabanne Film Stock.

A justice court jury decided this afternoon that Mayor Kiel need not pay his $500 subscription for stock of the William Christy Cabanne Motion Picture Trust, which was promoted for the announced purpose of "putting St. Louis on the map" of the film world.

The Mayor's signature was shown on the subscription list, with the sum of $500 opposite, and the Mayor admitted that the signature was genuine. He then told, as he has told before, that two young men, after two telephone messages, called and asked him to back the "big project for St. Louis" by his signed indorsement.

"Asked if it would cost me any money, telling them that I was willing to give my indorsement when it would do any good, but that I could not afford to invest money. They said I didn't have to invest, and that my signing opposite the $500 item would not mean that I would have to pay."

The Mayor said he then called in Miss Clara Meiss, who is employed in his office, and asked her to listen to the conversation, and that at his request the men repeated the proposal and declared that he would not have to pay.

Miss Meiss testified to the same effect, as to what she heard. She said a stock certificate came in the mail later, but was not turned over to the Mayor personally, being kept in a desk at the office.

George T. Priest, representing the Motion Picture Trust, demanded of the Mayor what he thought the $500 pledge meant. "Only a moral indorsement," the Mayor replied.

"Tried to Bunco Me." Asked why he would not pay, the Mayor said he did not wish to be "skinned by a couple of sharpers, who tried to bunco me." He said he had not received the stock certificate, but had received letters asking payment for it, which letters he ignored.

The jury was out two minutes. The hearing was in Justice Martin's downtown court. The company has the privilege of appeal to the Circuit Court, but it was not made known whether there would be an appeal.

Popular Society Girl Ended Life With Her Father's Revolver—Mother Died
a Suicide 14 Years Ago.

BOSTON, Jan. 29.—The whirl of social life, dancing and cigarettes, resulting finally in a nervous breakdown, are blamed by W. P. G. Harding, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, for the death of his daughter, Margaret Elliot Harding, 23 years old, who committed suicide at their home here.

Gov. Harding, in a statement last night, made public the circumstances of Miss Harding's death, which had been withheld since Saturday when a medical examiner reported:

"Cause of death hemorrhage—to be investigation."

He said his daughter, since leaving school several years ago, had devoted herself to social activities such as an extent that a few months ago her health had become seriously impaired and that he had warned her continuously against late hours and cigarette smoking.

She spent much of her time in Washington, where she was prominent socially, and a fortnight ago, after a stay of several months at home, again visited the capital. On her return to Boston last week, Harding said his daughter told him she was suffering from a breakdown.

Used Her Father's Revolver. Harding was in New York visiting another daughter, Mrs. Eugene Van Rensselaer Thayer, when news of Miss Harding's suicide reached him. Funeral services were held here yesterday.

Miss Harding shot herself with her father's revolver, which she had found hidden in a bureau drawer.

In a note left to her father, Miss Harding wrote:

"You don't know how I am suffering. Please forgive me for what I have done; I cannot stand it any longer. Goodbye, love."

"Margaret."

Stanley Hawkes, head of the Bureau of Information of the State Department, who hurried to Boston after receiving a special delivery letter from Miss Harding, written shortly before her death, returned to Washington last night and did not attend the funeral.

Gov. Harding said in his statement:

"Today was the first time I ever heard my daughter's name linked with that of Hawkes. I told this fellow to go back to Washington, that there was nothing he could do here."

Harding could throw no light on reports that his daughter had been disappointed with the recent announcement of the engagement of Hawkes to Miss Margaret Baldwin of Washington, who now is traveling in Italy. The letter which Hawkes received from Miss Harding is understood to have contained congratulations upon his engagement.

Popular in Capital Society. Miss Harding had presided over the Harding home at 271 Beacon street since her father's appointment as head of the Government banking institution here, about a year ago. She came to Boston early last year to her new Back Bay home.

Miss Harding, the youngest daughter, was a child of 13 when her father was called from Birmingham, Ala., 10 years ago, to Washington, to become a member of the Federal Reserve Board, later becoming Governor of the board under the Wilson administration.

Beautiful and of kindly disposition, the motherless baby of the Harding household grew into young womanhood under the eyes of Washington officials and became one of the capital's most popular society girls.

She served during the World War in the women's training camp at Chevy Chase as a telephone operator. She was a close friend of Miss Hamlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sumner Hamlin of Boston and Washington, and also Miss Mellon, daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury, Miss Harding.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Albert H. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, is on the verge of a nervous breakdown, the Senate committee investigating leases of naval oil reserves was told today by his counsel, Levi Cooke.

"Senator Fall has been under a great strain for the past few weeks," said Cooke. "He traveled extensively and has been put to a great physical strain."

Proposes Bedside Examination. Urging that the committee as a whole or a subcommittee examine Fall in his sick room at the home of J. W. Zevely, Cooke told the committee that it was the opinion of the attending physicians that a delay in the examination tended only to aggravate his condition. He added that the doctors felt that any prolonged strain upon him at this time might have a most detrimental effect, and read a statement prepared last night by Dr. John Wharton and three consulting physicians to that effect. The recommendation was made that the committee visit the Zevely home and take Fall's statement without any undue delay.

Senator Walsh (Dem.) Montana, who has had the predominant role in the whole oil lease investigation, said he disliked to intrude himself into Fall's sick room and that he would prefer first to hear from the physicians as to when Fall would be likely to be able to come before the committee.

"I suggest," he said, "that the physicians appear and tell us under oath when he will be able to appear."

Chairman Lenroot suggested that the doctors come before the committee tomorrow but Cooke urged that they be heard today.

Doctors to Be Heard. After further discussion the committee decided to hear the doctors tomorrow morning. At the same time it also will examine Director Bain of the Bureau of Mines with respect to the disposal of storage oil from Naval Reserve No. 1, California, and of royalty oil in the Salt Creek field.

Thomas Johnson, foreman of Fall's New Mexico ranch, was present today, but Chairman Lenroot insisted that his examination would be deferred for a time. Meanwhile he is to remain in Washington at the call of the committee.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Senator Couzens, Republican, Mich., issued a statement today declaring that if developments in connection with the naval oil reserves suggested that the time was opportune for legislation providing for appearance of Cabinet officers before Congress each week to obtain information on pending affairs.

"Had this been a law no such condition could have existed as has developed in connection with the leasing of the naval oil reserves," Senator Couzens said, adding that he would introduce a bill to carry out such a program.

NEW THINGS Seen in the Misses' Store

The Tailored Suit

of 1934 will never be mistaken for that of 1923. You've seen it in the authentic fashion magazines; now you see it in the flesh, even more piquant than on the pages of the magazine.

The Misses' Store presents delightful versions of this most becoming mode, in covert, twill and mixtures, often with a waistcoat of a white material. Black, tan, gray and lentil—a new shade—are prominent in the list of colors. $39.50 and up

A New Favorite

is the three-piece costume pictured here. It is, oh, so different than ever before, for the coat is quite long and has a tricky collar, and opens to disclose a frock whose blouse is of broadened chiffon in lovely Persian colors. A wide band of this chiffon appears in the lining of the coat. The blouse is sometimes quite long, after the new fashion.

Brickdust is a new color that is particularly good in these costumes. Such an outfit would be distinguished in the smartest gatherings.

Three-quarters

is a chic length for coats this Spring. The Misses' Store shows a number of distinctive models that may be worn in the afternoons, in beautiful materials, with collars of fur, or with intricate details of adornment.

The model sketched of soft gray glove-laine with squirrel collar is an excellent example of what is smart. $45 to $120

Plaids

acquire a new importance in the Coats for Spring. They are shown in glorified colorings, softly subdued or strikingly bizarre. Many of the smartest ones have collars of Summer ermine, while others find a collar of the material very piquant.

Teddy Bear is a new material, whose shaggy, silky surface takes a pattern of stripes or plaids most effectively. Camel's hair, velveteen and smart mixtures are also shown. $29.50 to $55. (Misses' Store—Third Floor.)

THREE BANKS IN SILVER CITY,
N. M., CLOSE DOORS IN DAY

County Left at End of Day Without an Active Banking Institution.

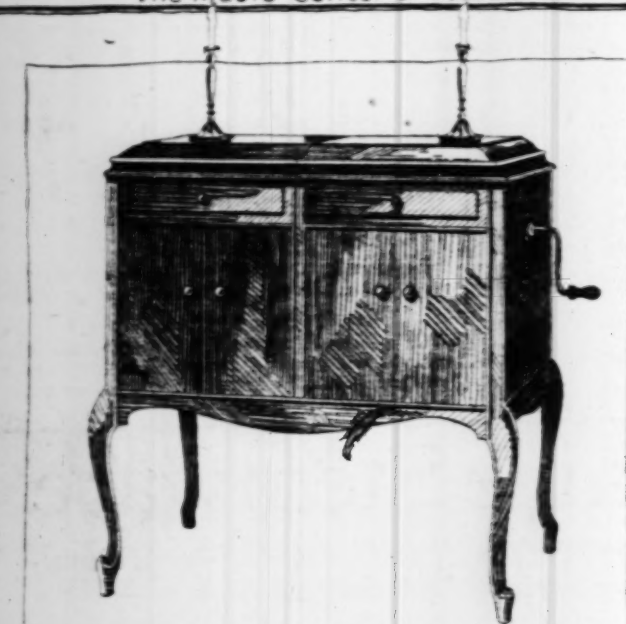

By the Associated Press.

SILVER CITY, N. M., Jan. 23.—Three banks in Silver City closed their doors yesterday. They were the Silver City National, the Silver City Savings Bank and the American National Bank. Soon after the close of the local banks the State Bank Examiner was asked to take charge of the Bank of Tyrone.

The institutions had combined liabilities estimated at $2,000,000, according to their statements of Dec. 31 last. Recent large withdrawals of cash deposits, it was said, resulted in the decision to close. Grant County was left without an active bank.

WOMAN ARRESTED FOR MURDER OF HUSBAND

Armenian Held for Fatal Stabbing in Granite City Year Ago.

Mrs. Marian Kalosian, 30 years old, an Armenian, in whose home at Granite City a year ago her husband and his cousin were found dead following a fight for her favor, has been arrested on a charge of murder, preferred by the State's Attorney of Madison County, who says she has information that Mrs.
Kalosian killed her husband.

Mrs. Kalosian, who had been held in St. Louis for medical treatment since the killing, has been turned over to the Madison County authorities on an indictment returned a few months ago.

Accused by Man Witness.
The disclosure that Mrs. Kalosian might have had something to do with the killing of her husband was made by Harry Bogosian, a witness in a deportation proceeding three months ago against the woman. Bogosian, claims to have been an eye-witness to the fight between the two men, and testified at the deportation hearing here before J. M. Nash, Immigration Inspector, that Mrs. Kalosian cut her husband's throat with a razor as he was grappling with the other man, Dick Kalosian, 33, his cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. Kalosian had been living apart and a divorce proceeding was pending. Dick Kalosian, the cousin, had been a boarder at their home. On the night of Jan.
14, 1923, the husband returned to Granite City and found his wife and cousin together in a Granite City saloon. A fist fight followed, but the men were quickly separated.

Went to Home to "Fight It Out."
They thereupon agreed to go to the woman's home and "fight it out." Bogosian who testified at the deportation hearing said the husband drew a revolver and shot his cousin, who then grappled with him. Mrs. Kalosian, according to the testimony, obtained a razor and cut her husband's throat during the scuffle. Both men died within a few minutes. Mrs. Kalosian was slightly wounded in the right hip by a bullet from her husband's revolver.

In a statement to police at the time, Mrs. Kalosian said she had gone to her home with the two men; that her husband shot his cousin, and the latter thereupon cut her husband's throat with a razor. This version of the killing was accepted as true, until the deportation proceeding against the woman.

University City authorities will seek to have a residence at 6954 Highland avenue locked up for a year, as a nuisance, under a town ordinance similar to the clause of the State prohibition law relating to nuisances.

Chief of Police Ward and a patrolman arrested there yesterday Ray Zettler, 40 years old, on a charge of selling liquor. Ward announced that Zettler had sold drinks to the policeman last week when the latter was in uniform and sold them both drinks yesterday, for which marked money was given.

Zettler's $1000 bond was signed by his uncle, Charles Tamme, of 7007 Stanley avenue, who owns the Highland avenue house, according to University City authorities. The case will come up before Police Judge Ladd Thursday morning.

CRIMINAL COURT REVENUE

Increase of $8000 in Fines, Costs and Bond Forfeitures.

Revenue from fines, court costs and bond forfeitures in the three criminal divisions of the Circuit Court amounted to $39,944 in 1923.
This is approximately $8000 more than the revenue in 1922 and nearly $12,000 more than in 1921.

Clerk Rader attributes a material part of the increase to fining of a greater number of drivers of automobiles charged with felonies as a result of accidents.

Of the amount collected $24,- 357.15 will go to the Board of Education for the school fund. The remainder is distributed in fees to various city officials and payment of witness fees and jury costs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Bear-

2,500,000 names affixed, war veterans yesterday presented to Ambassador Wiedfeldt, a request for the release of Hoover Griffiths now in Your itching skin is but a symptom

BELOW the surface is the irritation this simple treatment reaches

FIFTEEN minutes, perhaps less, and that maddening itch will be relieved. Yet this startling fact—in itself one of the most remarkable qualities of Resinol—is but an indication of its real healing properties.

Deep down beneath the irritation, where many salves and remedies fail even to reach, lies the real cause of that rash, eczema or other skin disorder.

To reach these deep-seated causes of irritation—to cleanse the pores, kill germs, and start the skin again acting normally —physicians have for twenty-eight years been prescribing Resinol Ointment.

Get a jar of this soothing, healing ointment at your druggist today, or send for a free trial sample to Dept. 8, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. You can use it without fear. Its results are surprising.

POLICE TRYING TO FIND BODY OF MRS. LINCOLN

Slayer Now Says He May Have Buried Wife and Her Brother.

By the Associated Press.

AURORA, Ill., Jan. 29.—A search is being made today for the headless bodies of Mrs. Lana Lincoln and Byron Shoup, wife and brother-in-law of Warren J. Lincoln, lawyer and horticulturist, confessed slayer of the two, who told authorities last night he might have buried the bodies instead of burning them in his greenhouse furnace, as he has hitherto stated.

The victims' heads, immured in a block of concrete, were found Saturday by officers led by Lincoln.

Investigations are being made of the death of Lincoln's first wife 10 years ago, and that of a man whose body was found near Geneva, Ill., shortly after the time Lincoln says
he killed his wife and her brother.

The police have a theory that the man may have been a stranger whom Lincoln said he employed to help him dispose of the bodies of Shoup and Mrs. Lincoln. An overdose of headache powders was said to be the cause of the death of Lincoln's first wife.

It had been planned yesterday to have Lincoln spend an hour or two pushing a wheelbarrow back and forth between his greenhouse and his home in the belief that the man might thus recall what had been done with the bodies. This plan was abandoned, however, when Lincoln objected to going through with it because of the great number of sightseers about the place.

Mrs. Clara Lushbaugh of Tulsa, Ok., who arrived to take charge of the funeral over the remains of her sister and brother, told the authorities that Lincoln's first wife had died under strange circumstances, when he was Postmaster at Mount Pulaski, Ill. His second wife was a clerk in the Postoffice at the time and Lincoln married her two years later.

Is a Handicap.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Austen Chamberlain, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, speaking today at a meeting organized by the League of Nations Union, advocated the acceptance of amendments to the league covenant in order to persuade the United States to join.

Much of the hope for the future of the world, he declared, depended upon the success of the league and it was an immense handicap to the league that the United States held aloof. It might perhaps have been better if some of the amendments proposed in America had been accepted by President Wilson and the league itself, he said.

"No league," said Chamberlain,
"can fulfill the purpose of a league of nations while the United States, Germany and Russia are all voluntarily or by decree of the league excluded from it."
He gave warning against straining the league's authority too much while it was in the infant stage.
He said he hoped to see it gradually develop increased moral authority.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN, WHO WAS FOUND WANDERING, DIES

He Gave Name Which Police Say Sounded Like Charles Schaffman.

Police are endeavoring to identify a man who was found Dec. 26 wandering about the corner at Grand avenue and North Market street, apparently suffering from amnesia, and who died yesterday at city hospital.

When the man was received at the hospital he could give no information to identify himself, other than a name, which police made out as "Charles Schaffman." No one in the vicinity where he was found knew such a man. He is described as being about 60 years old, 5 feet and 7 inches tall, emaciated, and white-haired. He wore a blue striped overcoat and a well-worn black derby. The body is at the morgue.

WAGNER RE-ELECTED BY CLUB

Million Population Body Commends Him for His Work.

Members of the Million Population Club last night repudiated the 12 members who recently resigned because of dissatisfaction with the administration of Hugh K. Wagner as president, by re-electing Wagner to the same post for another year.
A resolution was unanimously passed commending him for his work as head of the club during the past three years.

The 12 members who quit Jan.
1, declared that Wagner was endeavoring to "perpetuate himself in office."

Other officers elected last night are Circuit Judge Moses Hartmann and Walter C. Guelz, vice presidents; Charles A. Pearson, treasurer; and J. A. Troy, secretary.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Jan. 29.—

POLICE TRYING TO FIND BODY OF MRS. LINCOLNSlayer Now Says He May Have Buried Wife and Her Brother.

By the Associated Press.
AURORA, Ill., Jan. 29.—A search is being made today for the headless bodies of Mrs. Lina Lincoln and Byron Shoup, wife and brother-in-law of Warren J. Lincoln, lawyer and horticulturist, confessed slayer of the two, who told authorities last night he might have buried the bodies instead of burning them in his greenhouse furnace, as he has hitherto stated.

The victims' heads, removed in a block of concrete, were found Saturday by officers led by Lincoln. Investigations are being made of the death of Lincoln's first wife 10 years ago, and that of a man whose body was found near Geneva, Ill., shortly after the time Lincoln says he killed his wife and her brother. The police have a theory that the man may have been a stranger whom Lincoln said he employed to help him dispose of the bodies of Shoup and Mrs. Lincoln. An overdose of headache powders was said to be the cause of the death of Lincoln's first wife.

It had been planned yesterday to have Lincoln spend an hour or two pushing a wheelbarrow back and forth between his greenhouse and his home in the belief that the man might thus recall what had been done with the bodies. This plan was abandoned, however, when Lincoln objected to going through with it because of the great number of sightseers about the place.

Mrs. Clara Lushbaugh of Tulsa, Ok., who arrived to take charge of the funeral over the remains of her sister and brother, told the authorities that Lincoln's first wife had died under strange circumstances when he was postmaster at Mount Pulaski, Ill. His second wife was a clerk in the Postoffice at the time and Lincoln married her two years later.

FIFTEEN DEAD IN EXPLOSION

Many Victims of Rhode Island Blast Believed Asphyxiated.

By the Associated Press.
PAWUCKET, R. I., Jan. 29.—

Fifteen bodies were found in the ruins caused by an explosion which shook the countryside for 20 miles around and wrecked a two-family house at Cumberland Hill, Mannville, yesterday. Many of the victims, in the opinion of the medical examiner, were asphyxiated before the explosion, which resulted from the igniting of illuminating gas and was made more severe by the detonation of some dynamite stored in the cellar.

PART TWO.

WOMEN OF IRELAND
TO SUPPORT R
CAUSE WITHSaturated With Sinn Fein of Free Staters, Yet T
Ballot as They W

The following is one of a series of articles on Ireland, by P. J. Kelly, a staff correspondent of the New York World and Post-Dispatch who describes conditions in the new Ireland, which has risen from civil strife.

By P. J. Kelly.

DUBLIN, Jan. 19.

In a country where the family virtues are so religiously cultivated, where the woman influences plays such a large part in shaping popular thought, it might be expected that the hand that rocks the cradle would rule the politics of the country.

Curiously enough, the expansion of the franchise to all women of the age of 21 has had the net result of practically eliminating female representatives from the Free State Parliament.

The political woman leader in Ireland is a spinster of indeterminate age, a widow with tragedy behind her, or a young girl full of the enthusiasms of hero worship, to whom a gunman is the nearest thing to a god that modern conditions will allow. This latter type predominates. The others provide leadership.

The type is a development of the conditions of the last four or five years. The Sinn Fein movement can claim the distinction of being responsible for its establishment. The sins of the movement in so far as they are responsible for the production of the actively political young woman in Ireland, have been coming home to roost.

The fiercest opponents of the present Sinn Fein Government are the women whom the movement taught to be political activists. They are the mainstay of revolutionary Republicanism.

Learned Politics in Violent Revolution.

Before the Sinn Fein movement assumed the character of violent revolution, the woman in politics was practically unknown in Ireland, except in so far as she was represented by the suffragist agitation, which, in this country, was really an imitation rather than a native production. There were really only two women advocates of extreme politics, Mrs. Gonne, MacBride and Mme. Markievicz, the "Red Countess" of later days.

The first influence toward the new thought was supplied by the Gaelic League, the organization formed for the revival and propagation of the Gaelic language. It stood for practically all that Arthur Griffith's Sinn Feinism advocated. The drift to that policy was inevitable. In the Gaelic classes in the clubs and the minds of impressionable young girls received their first political direction. As the Sinn Fein movement grew, most of the Gaelic enthusiasts attached themselves actually or morally to that movement. The girls went with the young male drift.

Thus schooled in not only extremist doctrine, but in practice, the young women of Ireland emerged as activists in politics. They had no training in constitutional methods, no outlook on the ways of statesmanship. All they knew of politics they had learned by participation in violent revolt.

True to their training and to their established connections of a republic without compromise, they swung to the extreme left with the De Valeraite opposite to the Anglo-Irish treaty.

The choice left to Sinn Fein, as between the treaty and a continuation of the war, was in plain terms narrowed down to the advisability of adopting a no-surrender attitude and sacrificing a generation of Irishmen in order that some day another generation might continue the struggle.

The opposition led by De Valera provided these women with the opportunity of denouncing the compromisers as traitors and of justifying open warfare against them. But, consciously or unconsciously, there was, deep down in their hearts, that other feeling of personal resentment against the whole circumstances that deprived them of any of the joy that the treaty might have brought to others.

It is acknowledged that without the activities of the women the republicans as a fighting force would have collapsed long before they did. The women and girls sustained the men of the flying columns and the men evading arrest; they over the country; they moved munitions from place to place and covered the movements of individuals and groups of individuals.

When the Government, as many thought too impetuously, passed a new franchise measure giving adult suffrage to both sexes in the Free State, the fear was generally expressed that it would be disastrous.

WOMEN OF IRELAND FAIL TO SUPPORT REPUBLICAN CAUSE WITH THEIR VOTES

Saturated With Sinn Fein Ideals and Hatred of Free Staters, Yet They Did Not Use Ballot as They Were Expected.

The following is one of a series of articles on Ireland, by P. J. Kelly, a staff correspondent of the New York World and Post-Dispatch who describes conditions in the new Ireland, which has risen from civil strife.

By P. J. Kelly.

DUBLIN, Jan. 29.—In a country where the family is so religiously cultivated, where the woman influences such a large part in shaping popular thought, it might be expected that the hand that rocks the cradle would rule the politics of the country.

Curiously enough, the expansion of the franchise to all women of the age of 21, has had the net result of practically eliminating female representatives from the Free State Parliament.

The political woman leader in Ireland is a spinster of indeterminate age, or a young girl full of the enthusiasms of hero worship, in whom a gunman is the nearest thing to a god that modern conditions will allow. This latter type predominates. The others provide leadership.

The type is a development of the conditions of the last four or five years. The Sinn Fein movement can claim the distinction of being responsible for its establishment. The sins of the movement, as far as they are responsible for the production of the actively political young woman in Ireland, have been coming home to roost.

The fiercest opponents of the present Sinn Fein Government are the women whom the movement sought to be political activists. They are the mainstay of revolutionary Republicanism.

Learned Politics in Violent Revolution.

Before the Sinn Fein movement assumed the character of violent revolution, the woman in politics was practically unknown in Ireland, except in so far as she was represented by the suffragist agitation, which, in this country, was a religion rather than a native production. There were really only two women advocates of extreme politics, Mrs. Gonne MacBride and Mrs. Markievicz, the "Red Countess" of later days.

The first influence toward the Gaelic League, the organization formed for the revival and propagation of the Gaelic language.

It stood for practically all that Arthur Griffith's Sinn Feinism advocated. The drift to that policy was inevitable. In the Gaelic League, in the clubs and in the Gaelic classes in the schools the minds of impressionable young girls received their first political direction. As the Sinn Fein movement grew, most of the Gaelic enthusiasts attached themselves actually or morally to that movement. The girls went with the young male drift.

Thus schooled in not only extremist doctrine, but in practice, the young women of Ireland emerged as activists in politics. They had no training in constitutional methods, no outlook on the ways of statesmanship. All they knew of politics they had learned by participation in violent revolt.

True to their training and to their established connections of a republic without compromise, they swung to the extreme left with the Volunteers and sacrificed a generation to the cause of the Anglo-Irish treaty.

The choice left to Sinn Fein, as between the treaty and a continuation of the war, was in plain terms narrowed down to the advisability of adopting a no-surrender attitude and sacrificing a generation of Irishmen in order that some day another generation might continue the struggle.

The opposition led by De Valera provided these women with the opportunity of denouncing the compromisers as traitors and of justifying open warfare against them. True, consciously or unconsciously, there was deep down in their hearts, that other feeling of personal resentment against the whole situation that deprived them of any of the joy that the treaty might have brought to others.

It is acknowledged that without the activities of the women the republicans as a fighting force would have collapsed long before they did. The women and girls surrounded the men of the flying columns and the men evading arrest; they maintained communications over the country; they moved munitions from place to place and covered the movements of individuals and groups of individuals.

When the Government, as many thought too impetuously, passed a new franchise measure giving adult suffrage to both sexes in the Free State, the fear was generally expressed that it would be disastrous

M'ADOO FORCES SCORE VICTORY IN STATE COMMITTEE

Convention Awarded to Springfield, Considered Strong Anti-Reed Territory—Date April 15.

TOWNSHIP MEETINGS TO BE HELD MARCH 7

County and Ward Gatherings to Be Day Later—Limits Senator's Campaign to Five Weeks.

By Curtis A. Betts.

The McAdoo forces, having control of the Democratic State Committee, exerted their power at the committee meeting yesterday and took every advantage that power gave them over the Reed following.

Senator Reed's representatives, in the minority in the committee, resisted at every turn, but vainly, and when they lost cried "steam roller" and "snap judgment."

It is a way politicians have. Those who have power use it. Those who haven't complain with a show of righteous indignation because the winners do what they would have done if they could.

The date of the township meetings to select delegates to the county convention was fixed for March 7, and the date for county and ward conventions to select delegates to the State convention was fixed for the following day. The State convention will be in Springfield April 15.

One Slight Concession.

In this program the only slight concession to the Reed following was the late date fixed for the State convention, and that seeming is a meaningless concession because the delegates to that convention will be chosen early in March. Springfield is strong anti-Reed territory, and being the location of the Frisco Railroad shops, is considered strong for McAdoo.

Under the McAdoo program, as carried out in the committee meeting, the Reed campaign will be limited to about five weeks, because if the present plans are continued only known anti-Reed men and women who can be counted upon to stand "hitched," will be chosen for delegates to the State convention from counties in which the anti-Reed sentiment predominates. The McAdoo following believes this condition exists in a sufficient number of counties to give them a majority against Reed of about 300 in a convention of approximately 1150 delegates.

The basis of apportionment is two delegates, one man and one woman, for each 1000 votes cast for Cox in 1920. Women will have equal representation with men in all county conventions. There will be four women and four men on the Missouri delegation-at-large to the national convention in New York, each with one-half vote. Each congressional district meeting of delegates will decide whether district representation shall be 50-50 between men and women.

After the selection of Springfield as the convention city, a subcommittee consisting of Charles H. Mayer of St. Joseph and Mrs. Katharine Halterman of Mount Vernon, McAdoo supporters, and Senator Michael Kinney and the late supporter, was appointed to draft the call for the State convention.

Over Kinney's protest this committee reported in favor of the township meetings and county conventions on March 7 and 8, and the State convention March 18. The dates of the preliminary meetings were permitted to stand, but at the instance of Mayor Cromwell of Kansas City the convention date was changed to April 15.

Cromwell's Request.

Cromwell asked that the convention be held after the first week in April because an earlier date would take from Kansas City several dates during the municipal campaign. Democratic leaders who would be needed there. On the theory that the selection of delegates to the State convention would be early in March and the delegates selected then would be handicapped and not susceptible to Reed influence, Cromwell's request was granted.

Clark objected strenuously to a provision of the call that only "known Democrats" should be permitted to participate in the township meetings and county conventions. He insisted this would give the chairman the right to bar from the meetings anybody they saw fit to bar. He offered an amendment to permit any person who voted the Democratic ticket in 1922 and who declared his intention of voting the ticket in 1924 to participate.

The issue was this: Under the subcommittee report Republicans

REED MUST GAIN IN STRENGTH TO BE A SERIOUS FACTOR

Possibility Pointed Out, However, He Might Become Beneficiary of Fight Against McAdoo.

By CHARLES G. ROSS.

Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Washington heard with only a mild shadow of interest the news that Senator Reed had formally declared himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

The edge had been taken off the news by forecasts that the Senator would get into the race.

Washington's attention, moreover, has been so absorbed by the oil leasing investigation that for the time being it has lost all capacity to become excited over anything else.

Such interest as there is in the Reed candidacy centers for the present about its effect in Missouri. If the McAdoo managers carry out their announced plans, Reed will face a stiff fight for the State delegation to the national convention. The result might be a party split of sufficient gravity to give the State to the Republicans.

But the recognition of this possible outcome in Reed's home State does not alter the general belief that his candidacy will not materially complicate the general political situation. To become a serious factor in the fight for the nomination, Reed must develop a far greater strength than he now possesses. There is always the possibility, of course, that the Missouri pacification of the continent through the League of Nations, and more anxious to bring Germany into the League than to recognize Russia. They wish recognition of the latter country to be accomplished by some promise on the part of the soviets of an acceptance in principle of the League covenant.

RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA SLOWED UP BY MACDONALD

Secret Papers Produced by Foreign Office Make Immediate Action Unadvisable.

TROUBLE IN PLAN TO SCRAP SINGAPORE

Threat That Earl Beatty Will Resign if Naval Base Scheme Is Abandoned Bothers Ministry.

Special Cable From the London Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The Labor Cabinet in its meeting yesterday discussed briefly European questions, housing, agriculture and unemployment problems and spent the rest of the time on two snags, the first of which the Government has struck.

One of these is the question of recognition of Russia. Several Ministers believe this should have been granted at once with no preliminary negotiations. However, Premier MacDonald as Foreign Secretary, explained the serious objections to such a procedure which had been raised by the permanent officials at the Foreign Office.

What decision, if any, was taken by the Cabinet I am unable to learn. However, MacDonald held out hopes that recognition would not be long delayed and referred to secret information placed before him concerning hostile soviet activities toward Britain in Asia.

To Give Up Singapore Project.

The other controversy concerns labor's announced determination to abandon the project of spending $100,000,000 on a naval base in Singapore. Lord Chelmsford, the new First Lord of the Admiralty, placed before the Cabinet data concerning admiralty views on this subject. There is reason to believe that Admiral Beatty and other officers have threatened to resign if Singapore is scrapped.

The Daily Herald, labor's official organ, without explaining the inside facts in detail, remarked today:

"It might lead to one of two resignations today at the Admiralty, but those resignations would not cause one-sixteenth part of the stir that the inhabitants of the Pall Mall clubs imagine."

Despite this threat in print, it is known the reason Lord Chelmsford, an old Tory, was given the post of First Lord and in the hopes he could prevent the threatened resignation of Earl Beatty, which, it was feared, would have a bad effect on a public nurtured into an almost religious respect for its naval chiefs. The Cabinet will clearly use all efforts possible to make terms with Beatty, whose resignation, coupled with a possible charge that labor is crippling the navy, would be a serious political blow to the new Government.

Pledges to Be Exacted From Soviets Before Recognition.

The Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Prime Minister MacDonald has met with circumstances which have compelled him to go slower regarding the recognition of Russia by Great Britain than he had intended to go when he took office, according to some political writers.

The political correspondent of the Daily Mail puts the Premier's position as follows: "It is unlikely that Mr. MacDonald will take any precipitate action towards recognition, permanent officials at the Foreign Office and an examination of the documents on file there having convinced him such a step would not be in the best interests of the country. He is anxious for recognition as soon as possible and is engaged in making the necessary preliminary inquiries."

The Daily Telegraph's commentator says that MacDonald already has perceived that his aim, the unconditional resumption of full relations with Russia, may have to be developed at a much slower pace owing to technical difficulties. The writer cites in this connection the old Anglo-Russian treaties and the question of debts. He also suggests that Viscount Halifax, the Lord Chancellor, and Lord Parmoor, the Lord President of the Council, who he says, favor pacification of the continent through the League of Nations, are more anxious to bring Germany into the League than to recognize Russia. They wish recognition of the latter country to be accomplished by some promise on the part of the soviets of an acceptance in principle of the League covenant.

INTRIGUES OF FRENCH AGAINST FOREIGN POLICY OF CURZON ARE REVEALED

Archives of Former British Secretary's Office Disclose Alleged Attempts by Ambassador From Paris to Influence Britain's Plans.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1924, by the Press and Publishing Co., Inc., New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Premier MacDonald and his Labor colleagues have had the archives of the Foreign Office at their disposal only a week, but have found material that has amazed them.

Revelations of intrigues within the office itself against former Premier Baldwin's Foreign Secretary, Marquis Curzon, are not lacking. One of the most sensational documents, as it was described to modern history, is dated only a week ago. It tells of the last interview between Lord Curzon and the Comte de Saint Aulaire, French Ambassador to London.

This report was written by the retiring Foreign Secretary in his own hand and was waiting for Mr. MacDonald when he entered the Foreign Office two days later. It describes first the decision ancient controversy still in progress over ordinances issued by separatists in the Palatinate and the French attempt to get these recognized by the Interallied Rhineland High Commission.

Lord Curzon's account shows the conversation was a cold and animated, but no progress was made toward an understanding.

Suddenly the British Foreign Minister changed the subject, Curzon met Ambassador's Demands.

Since this meeting was to be their last, he told the French Ambassador he wished to refer to their personal relations. Lord Curzon was not unaware, he told the Comte de Saint Aulaire, that for months past the Frenchman had engaged in intrigues against the Foreign Secretary's personal relations. Lord Curzon, he stated, had been advised by his subordinates and the French Foreign Office. In these the French were advised how to cope with and nullify Lord Curzon's foreign policy.

He got them.

After the Paris interview between Premier Poincare and Baldwin, while Lord Curzon was at his country seat and after the communication alleging the two attitudes toward European policy existed inside the Foreign Office.

REED HEADQUARTERS OPENED IN ST. LOUIS

Campaign for Delegates to Be Concentrated First in Missouri.

National and State headquarters of the "Reed-for-President" campaign were opened today at Hotel Jefferson in charge of Edward A. Glenn of Louisiana, Mo., general campaign manager, who will be assisted by former Congressman William L. Igoe of St. Louis.

The first step in the campaign will be formation of plans to pledge the Missouri delegation to the Democratic National Convention for Senator Reed. If that effort is successful, the campaign will be extended to other states.

"I believe in going to first base first," Glenn said today, explaining his intention to concentrate upon Missouri. It is generally conceded the Senator's presidential aspirations must fail if he cannot control the Missouri delegation.

Plans for Keynote Speech.

The Senator is expected to make a keynote speech somewhere in Missouri prior to the Democratic State Convention, but the time and place have not been determined. Whether he will make other speeches depends upon the success of the campaign, Glenn said.

"We shall do what is necessary," Glenn added. "If it seems advisable for the Senator to make more than a keynote speech in the State, that will be done. My belief is it will not be necessary. I expect the opposition of the McAdoo supporters to diminish rapidly."

Reed Off to Washington Today.

"The Democratic State Committee's actions yesterday are satisfactory to me. They did just about everything I wanted. Many of our folks wanted a late date for selection of delegates to the State convention and for the convention itself, but I was willing that an early date be named. We would be ready to go to bat next week."

While Igoe will give general assistance in the State campaign, he will devote his efforts chiefly to St. Louis, where Senator Reed hopes to get all delegates to the State convention.

The Senator departed today for Washington. It has not been determined when he will return to Missouri.

Resolution endorsing the Harding administration and its successor as well as a Harding Memorial, has adopted, Topeka was chosen for the State convention on March 11,

REPAIRATION EXPERTS REACH BERLIN TONIGHT

Committee Headed by Dawes Is Expected to Begin Work Tomorrow.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1924, by the Press and Publishing Co., Inc., New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—The committee of reparation experts, presided over by Brigadier-General Charles G. Dawes, is to arrive in Berlin tonight and the second committee a day later. Both have engaged quarters at Hugo Stinnes hotel, the Esplanade.

The Government has designated State Secretary Schroeder to receive the experts officially and has prepared extensive offices for them, where the Dawes committee will get to work tomorrow.

The Post-Dispatch learns from informed Government and industrial circles that the first problem to be submitted will be the question of further payment of occupation costs. They were suspended during the Ruhr occupation until passive resistance was given up. The payments, amounting to $6,000,000 gold marks a month, are not included in the 1924 budget. Payment opposed by Finance Minister Luther and the Rentenbank directorate, who fear disturbance of the budget and resultant inflation.

Hence the experts will be requested to urge the Reparations Commission to grant Germany permission again to levy taxes in the Ruhr, revenues from which, it is estimated, will cover the reparations bill.

The opposition of the Rentenbank, industry and agriculture to the gold bank plan also will be put before the experts.

It is believed the work of the second committee, involving German capital abroad, will be easier than was expected. German industry's recent financial embarrassments resulted in withdrawal of gold holdings from abroad, especially from Denmark and Holland. The recent fall of the crown and the instability of the guilder are attributed to this.

The beginnings of Franco-German industrial entente, as seen in the Dusseldorf agreements, are seriously threatened as German industry is reported to be unable to abide by the agreements until April 15, when they expire.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Too Many Laws.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

HAVING heard the assertion by a St. Louis man that St. Louis was "the rottenest town in America," I cannot resist the impulse to say a few words in its defense. I am not a resident of St. Louis, not even a native Missourian, but belong to the Longhorn species, commonly called Texans. I have been traveling these United States pretty closely for about 15 years and have observed conditions, morally, very closely and I want to say that St. Louis is no worse than any other American city. They are all rotten, even the "Main Street" towns. In fact, this is the most immoral, most wicked and lawless country in the world. France and India not excepted. Our country is even of lower propensities than foreign nations, for we seek closed doors, cloaks of religion and high places to conceal the violations of laws of nature and man, while the same in foreign countries are licensed and in the open. If the number of unmarried couples who register at hotels were put in the statistical column it would stagger even the uninterested and would knock the reformers dead. Illicit liquor industry is the greatest of the great American industries.

We have 48 State law-making mills, one national and numerous municipal. The compilation of all the laws of this country into one book would take a couple of trainloads of paper. We have more laws to obey, with more non-sensical laws, and violate more laws than all the rest of the world. No wonder then we are a lawless people. Too much cake makes Johnny a sick boy and leaves a contempt for cake in his mind. Apply the same logic to laws and nations and you have the problem in a nutshell. There are whole states violating our national laws—the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments in the South.

Why not put the blame on lawlessness where it rightly belongs? Why not repeal about two-thirds of our laws, including the so-called prohibition law, and rewrite the rest on a basis of equity and justice to all concerned? The man will show me an American city where booze can't be bought? I'll buy him his new spring hat. If any man can show me a town where there are no scarlet women I'll buy that man a silk shirt to go with his hat. That includes 48 states, any city in this country. I've been, I've seen, I know. So don't say St. Louis is the rottenest town in America, because they are all rotten and the bad feature is, they are not improving, but going backward.

ST. LOUIS ADMIRER.

Make Automobiles "Fool-Proof."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE remedy to curb the speed maniacs. The United States Government should be called upon to regulate the manufacture of automobile motors, in other words, make them "fool-proof." To pass a law, an amendment, or any legal Federal procedure which would complicate the motor, after a certain date that no motor (with exception of fire, ambulance, police and army service) could be built that was "geared" over 20 miles an hour. Stop all private automobiles from exceeding the 20-mile speed limit, and it is safe to predict that the present appalling statistics, showing the terrible destruction of American lives, will be reduced to at least one-fourth.

The automobile is killing more people than the old-time saloon or the modern moonshine. Yet the saloon has been "officially" stopped. But the death-dealing auto speeds merrily on at anywhere from 40 to 60 miles per hour, with a fool at the wheel. Make the auto fool-proof, that's all.

GEORGES JEROME BEAUMONT.

Selective Law Observance.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

YES, "Scottish" is too harsh a word. Let us express the idea with more dignity and refinement. How about "Selective law-observer?" Or, "Fractional constitution-respecter?" Perhaps we should even seek an expression conveying a certain gratitude and commendation, that the person in question is willing to respect and obey a part of the laws. And how apt a selection, to cite Wendell Phillips in support of the flouting of a law enacted in the interest of the public welfare. The same Wendell Phillips who, when he heard the lawless men of his own time, likened to Revolutionary patriots, blazed forth in that famous attack upon the "recreant American slaveholders of the dead." Phillips did protest with all his soul against the fugitive slave law, not because that law conflicted with his appetite or interest, but because it was morally wrong. It denied human liberty—real, vital liberty of person, a vastly different thing from what is sometimes called personal liberty. The fugitive slave law not only forbade Phillips to aid a slave to escape, but it required him, under certain circumstances, to aid in returning fugitives to slavery. He deemed resistance to such a law to be a moral duty. How many persons today believed resistance to any existing law to be a moral duty? There may be such persons, but the vast body of the selectives are mere indulgers of appetite, whom no historic acclaim awaits.

THE REED CANDIDACY.

It is difficult to see how a multitude of Democrats—probably a majority—who believe that the United States ought to participate in co-operative international efforts to maintain peace and establish international law, can support Senator James A. Reed for the presidency. Although he said nothing on this subject in announcing his candidacy, his record precludes any hope that, if he were elected President, a single step would be made towards international co-operation.

Senator Reed refrained from mentioning this subject, as he refrained from specifically mentioning any policy in which there might be dynamite. There were no explosives in his pronouncement. It was a bid for harmony.

His appeal to stand by the Constitution and particularly in behalf of civil and religious liberty and complete freedom of conscience, property rights, and the independence of courts of justice, should find a response in the minds of all good Democrats. These are in accord with Democratic principles and traditional policies. So were his declarations for the abolition of useless bureaus and against the constant interference by governmental agencies with the honest business of the country. They are generalities, but sound.

So were his pleas for tariff reduction and tax reduction and for the development of internal improvements, including rivers as national highways. The Senator's platform was notable rather for omissions than for specific declarations which would stir the country. There was no rallying slogan. His coining, however, has not assured harmony. There seems to be no doubt that his candidacy will be fought by elements that opposed his re-election to the Senate.

Going out after a Presidential endorsement rather than merely seeking first place on the delegation may be shrewd politics. It may gain support in some quarters where the lesser campaign would fail. At all events, the Democratic party of Missouri seems to be in for a fight that will keep the chasm between the Reed and anti-Reed Democrats open. The split is not reassuring for the next campaign.

There is likely to be a split in the convention should Senator Reed go there as Missouri's Presidential candidate and in the remote event of his nomination there will be a nation-wide split in the party.

If, as Mr. Doherty testified, it was as easy for him to "lend" $100,000 as it is for the average man to part with $50, he might have been a bit more liberal in providing for Mr. Fall's future.

A PREMIER TELLS THE TRUTH.

Premier MacDonald has talked very frankly about France to a French editor. As reported in the Post-Dispatch he has charged France with pursuing a policy that has "alarmed and exasperated British opinion," and while not wishing "to talk about the apprehensions regarding our own security occasioned by France's powerful air armaments," he acknowledges that the advisability of "military preparations and new alliances" is a question England may have to consider.

He especially reproaches France for her occupation of the Ruhr which, he says, is "the principal cause of his country's economic distress" and "contains the germ of every calamity."

Such candid criticism from the head of a government is extraordinary, if not unprecedented, but in the light of the last year there will be regret everywhere that the late Bonar Law was not equally courageous and frank when the need was urgent. Not only did Law tacitly acquiesce in Poincaré's fateful decision but he suppressed the judgment of British experts that the invasion of the Ruhr was a violation of the Versailles treaty.

Since the fall of the coalition government Lloyd George has written freely of French mistakes and designs, but his comment, though not without weight, has been unofficial. MacDonald speaks officially and, therefore, effectually. Nor is he a mere negative alarmist. He insists upon "a new international policy—common sense and good faith—which will render possible at least a universal disarmament." The security which France demands, he insists, can never be guaranteed by force but can be found in a League of Nations to which all European countries belong.

Like the United States, all the European nations have their irreconcilables who scoff at the power of understanding and good will. This is the bourbonism that has kept Europe in turmoil, deposed the United States from its high position of moral leadership and, blind to the lesson of the World War, is determined to maintain the vicious order that will demand another and more hideous sacrifice.

If by junking the timidity and duplicity of the old-school diplomacy and facing facts squarely MacDonald succeeds in creating an intelligent internationalism in Europe his Premiership will be historic.

MORE ADMINISTRATION TEAM WORK.

The Department of Justice not only has been defeated in its antitrust suit against the New York Sugar and Coffee Exchange but has met with stinging rebuke from the United States Supreme Court. The opinion delivered by Chief Justice Taft stated that there had been "absolute failure by the Government to connect the defendants with any such conspiracy as was charged." The Chief Justice added that the Government could deal with corners if desired by bringing antitrust suits against speculators and gamblers. This is to imply that the Government does not desire to deal effectively with sugar corners but has taken sham action against the wrong defendant to give an appearance of activity in behalf of the consumer.

The highest court in the land has a right to be indignant when called upon to decide cases brought not in good faith but for political effect. It leaves to public opinion an alternative inference. Either the Attorney General does not know a case when he sees it or else he was insincere in bringing this case to trial.

For a year now the administration has winked at piracy in the marketing of sugar. Its tariff commission, packed with high protectionists, is still making a feint at investigating the subject. A sham case in the Supreme Court blocks the way to effective legal action in behalf of the consumer. How long must the American people pay private taxes to the sugar barons at a rate authoritatively estimated at $300,000,000 a year?

SUPER-PATRIOTISM AT WILKESBARRE.

Ku Klux doctrine and Ku Klux methods have been condemned by the American Legion. But the members of the Legion at Wilkesbarre, Pa., who, aided by the local police, raided and broke up a meeting in honor of the late Nicolai Lenin, acted in accordance with Ku Klux doctrine and adopted Ku Klux methods, with the exception of wearing masks, in raiding the hall and, by "rough handling," compelling those present to salute the American flag.

It may well be that, in addition to expressing their condolence on the death of the Bolshevik Premier, the "Reds" at this meeting intended to do a bit of propagandizing on this occasion. If such missionary work involved advice to forcibly overthrow the American Government, the propagandists could have been brought to book by legal procedure. Pennsylvania has a law defining and punishing "sedition." We doubt, however, that the law contains a clause providing that the American Legion shall enforce it. If the meeting were "sedition" in the meaning of the law, the Wilkesbarre authorities had power enough to suppress it.

If the American Legion is sincerely opposed to Ku Klux ideas and methods, it should condemn its Wilkesbarre membership for this Ku Kluxing raid.

Though Fall is here can spring be far behind?

A REPUBLICAN SHOW.

In his midnight statement announcing that Republican and Democratic lawyers would be named in the special counsel to prosecute the oil-lease frauds Mr. Coolidge explained such action would be in accordance with precedent and especially justified in this instance for the reason "As I understand, men are involved who belong to both political parties."

The breadth of view contained in this reason may be approved by Mr. Coolidge's party but the Democrats, we fear, will not commend it. They will be inclined to think it rather too liberal. They are pretty sure to decline any share in the mess.

It may develop, of course, that some of the super-numeraries in the cast are Democrats but the stellar parts have been played by the Republicans. Doherty, to be sure, is said to be a Democrat, though he never has been known as such and, by his own admission, he contributed generously to Mr. Harding's campaign fund. But all the rest are eminent Republicans, names to conjure with, the chosen of the party, functioning under a Republican administration.

Betrayal of high trust, it is conceded, may not be partisan, but emphatically in this instance it is not bi-partisan. And while we have not interviewed the Donkey on this point we believe he may be quoted as saying that "This—Haw! Haw!—is a Republican show."

MR. ANTWERP'S OPINION.

"WHEN I might say with Shakespeare that yesterday was this day's madness prepare," Mr. Antwerp said.

"The revelations at Washington are only the bitter fruit of our money madness. We disliked the Democratic administration because it would not turn the country over to pillage by privilege, and when we put the Republicans back into power we did it with an emphasis which they construed to mean that they could go as far as they liked."

"It was the reaction of a money-crazed people from the traditional integrity and honesty of American government. Mr. Wilson, who could not be swayed by predatory wealth, was regarded as an impracticable. Mr. Daniels, who stood over the naval oil reserves while the financial wolves sat just across the border licking their chops, was held by us to be a sort of old woman in hoop skirts."

"It was with money that we sought to overturn all this. The Chicago convention gave us the first scandal. We saw there two candidates facing each other with gold-bags and what corruption had bought. It was a spectacle such as we had never seen before, but we missed its sordid warning in the excitement of a political campaign. Neither of these men got the nomination. They were too evenly matched in money. They had equally prostituted politics. Mr. Harding got the nomination. He asked the party leaders for it, and they gave it to him. It was a gift that implied an obligation, and how faithfully Mr. Harding discharged that obligation we all know now."

"After the convention the campaign was a scandal. There was an orgy of money. It was shown that almost the entire press of the West and Northwest had been subsidized. There were whole Northwestern States without a newspaper for Cox."

"Well, money won. It booted out of Washington the sturdy honesty and democracy which had made our country unique, and engaged in a saturnalia of corruption. There has never been anything else like it in the history of the republic."

"Does it surprise anybody? I don't see how it could. We worked up to it dollar upon dollar, million upon million, until finally we fixed the dollar mark, the symbol and flag of our political philosophy, the thing we believed in, the thing for which we live, upon the cloud-kissed crest of Teapot Dome."

"It is really surprising, after so much effort, if this is really not what we want," Mr. Antwerp said.

"I see some girl has got young Mr. Wadsworth and their engagement is announced." "Beg pardon, did you say girl or squirrel?"

"I see some girl has got young Mr. Wadsworth and their engagement is announced." "Beg pardon, did you say girl or squirrel?"

One of our readers says there is a baked bean on the market which actually retains in the can the divine flavor of the celebrated Boston article, and he relates that upon his last visit to Boston his old mother confessed to him that the beans set out before him had come from the can. He is in some pain as the container of this secret, and fain would discover how he can divulge it to other exiles from Boston without seeming to be taking money from the concern which puts the beans up. We are unable to help him, sadly enough—not altogether because we have ourselves to steer a prudent course in a matter of such economic sensitiveness, but in view of the great furore at the time over taking money. This naturally attaches suspicion where it is unmerited, and we trust our reader will take good care of himself for a while lest the secret die with him.

SIR.—Do you recall the prediction of the late Col. Henry Watterson, "that the late President Harding would go down in history as the 'Buchanan' of the Republican party"—had he lived, it would certainly have descended on his shoulders. As it is, it has set its mantle on his administration and members of his appointed Cabinet.

"Marse Henry" knew what he was talking about, knew character and understood human nature.

"I see Senator Reed is running as a Democrat."

"A bit of a broncho buster, eh?"

The freight rate on wheat from Argentina to Liverpool is from 3 to 11 cents a bushel less than the combined rail and ocean rate from producing areas of the United States to Liverpool. This partly explains the ability of Argentine producers to undersell those of the United States in foreign markets, and it should enable a blind man to see why we want to use the Mississippi River.

Victor Miller told an audience over in East St. Louis last week that the national debt could be paid by law violators, and he estimates their net earnings in St. Louis at $100,000 a day. While that isn't a patch on what law violators are making in Washington, it is still important if true and probably means that there are too many laws.

Senator Walsh was born at Two Rivers, Wis., and former Secretary Fall lives at Three Rivers, N. M. That makes Five Rivers in all, and when the Republicans go up Salt River as a consequence of the oil scandals we will have Six Rivers all told—if it is all told.

Mr. Pigg of Chillicothe, Mo., is selling out and moving back to the farm. No doubt he heard the country calling "Pigg-ahoy!" or, we say it in Missouri: "Pig-o-o-o-o-o-ahoy!"

Sir.—Quite right about the Reed platform. Maybe it is a forgery. HO-HUM. Let us be fair. The navy can burn coal.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

THE DAWES COMMITTEE.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

THE action of the Dawes Committee in summoning to Paris President Eulenburg of the German Reichsbank is further evidence that this committee proposes to use the low practical methods of Dr. Schacht. It only heads the German bank of issue, but also the German Commissioner of Customs. Consequently, he knows more about Germany's money problem than any other individual and can undoubtedly provide committees with much useful information. This does not mean that the experts meeting in Paris will accept his conclusions. They are likely to question even those things he cites as facts. But in talking with Eulenburg they will begin to dipel that common belief to which General Dawes attributes great difficulties. Without good will on the part of the Germans the Reparation Commission can do nothing to balance the German budget or to stabilize German currency. Cooperation grows out of confidence. The men at the head of affairs in Germany can be made to realize that the present inquiry is a sincere attempt to help the German Government solve its problem and will do much to ease the task of the investigators.

THE VALUE OF FOREIGN.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

AN eminent neurologist recently said to me: "I am sending the patient for a few months into the forests of Canada. The beauty and the silence of the woods, the healing effects of the cool air, the overrunning rivers would do much to cure the patient. The patient would take the place of the crowded conditions of modern life and the rush and din of the modern city. But the forest is more than a beautiful resort, though it is more than a beautiful resort. The rehabilitation of tired nerves and bodies. It carried health to the patient, providing a continuous flow of uncontaminated water. It helps to regulate the fall and stabilize the temperature. It protects the crops in the bottom lands by ensuring their moisture and keeps the hillsides from being denuded and desolate."

A NEW X-RAY TUBE.

From the Philadelphia Evening Ledger.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the University of Wisconsin by a Westinghouse engineer that when the device is named, comes from cancer research department of University. Its virtue is a great discovery. The duration of the treatment can be cut from hours to minutes. Westinghouse investigator promises a further improvement, soon to be announced, which will permit the treatment of cancer to deep-seated cancers. Cases that most mysterious and stubborn of diseases, still baffles scientists who are endeavoring to find its cause and cure. New forms of cancer have been known to extend to internal cancers. However, the bitter experience of years with cancer, from which much was expected to be gained will temper their hope with realism.

General breakdown last spring forced him to remain away from his office most of the summer, but he returned to work in the fall and continued until two months ago. He came to St. Louis in 1907 from Kentucky and assisted in organizing the company which was then president. He is survived by his widow. He was 54 years old.

The funeral of William B. Hunt, 42 years old, an insurance agent, who died yesterday at his residence, 4315 Pershing avenue, after a month's illness, will be tomorrow at 9 a. m. from the St. Catharine church with private interment. His mother, Mrs. Louise Hunt, widow of Theodore Hunt, survives.

DENIES IMMIGRATION LOWERS STANDARDS

Visiting Expert Advocates Limitation Based on Intelligently Devised Tests.

America was discovered by most of Europe within the past 30 years. It is the only hope of a despairing people. The immigration problem is the same today as 100 years ago. The labor question has nothing to do with immigration. Immigration does not lower the standard of living. It does not affect wage scales. It does not cause strikes, disorder and radicalism.

These statements are by Dr. Edward A. Steiner, professor of sociology at Grinnell University, Iowa, who has written several books on immigration and sociological problems. Yesterday at the Wednesday luncheon a series of six free lectures, couched in simple words and based on years of study during which he lived among the foreign-born and voyaged more than 10 times to Europe.

As He Sees America's Mission. "If America has any kind of a mission it is the mission of making democratic institutions and making and shaping democratic personalities," Dr. Steiner declared. "We need faith in our human material, a tremendous faith in humanity itself. The human race is the only one for democracy—it is not alien to the immigrant. It is what he seeks. The 'undesirable' has been with us since the days of the revolution. It is many's inherent dislike for the unlike. Benjamin Franklin spoke of these Germans who didn't fit into the scheme of things, and the Irish were declared undesirable in 1848. Boston complained of the dirty Irish who crowd a family into one room."

"Brother to the Boss." "The theory that immigration reduces standards of living is fallacious. A man invariably desires to adopt the standards of living which he sees around him. The foreigner may come here a brother to the ox, but he wants to be a brother to the boss. This is a general labor problem, but it has nothing to do with immigration. Moreover, there is less discussion of communism and other brands of radicalism in the American foreign colonies than anywhere else in the world."

Dr. Steiner drew few conclusions. His topic was "What the Immigrant Wants and Brings," and he explained that he was diving into a sea of information about the greatest of America's problems. He favors limiting immigration on the basis of intelligently devised mental and physical tests. Two more lectures will be given today and two Thursday at 3 and 5 p. m. His topics in the order of delivery will be "Americanization," "Race and Environment," "The Labor and the Unemployed," "The Problem of Prejudice." His St. Louis visit is under the joint auspices of the Board of Religious Organizations and the Wednesday Club.

Paderewski, who was the first premier of the Polish republic, is to play in St. Louis Friday night. Paderewski spoke only a few words as he planned the medal on the breast of each recipient in a severe, simple ceremony.

The medals were bestowed for service to Poland during the war. All those honored were members of the Polish National committee which raised money for food and clothing for the Polish people and in this country recruited a force of 30,000 Poles which later fought in the battle of the Marne. The medal is of gold, in the shape of a Maltese cross.

At noon, prior to the presentation, the former premier entertained the 12 men at luncheon in his private car at the Illinois Central station.

LIEUT. MANSFIELD, IN POLICE DEPARTMENT 43 YEARS, DIES

Veteran Officer, 70 Years Old, Suffered From Heart Trouble.

Lieut. Nicholas Mansfield, whose service in the Police Department extended over 42 years, died today at St. Anthony's Hospital from heart trouble following an infection of the limb from which he had suffered several months. He was 70 years old and resided at 3435 Vista avenue.

In health, he was a striking figure—more than six feet tall, with gray hair, and weighing more than 200 pounds. Before automobiles made it necessary for the Police Department to create a traffic bureau, Lieut. Mansfield, as a patrolman, was a member of the old Broadway squad, composed of the finest looking members of the force, whose duty it was to escort women shoppers safely through the chaotic and street car traffic in the shopping district, confined in those days to the section between Washington avenue, Pine street, Broadway and Sixth street.

He was known as the "greyhound" of the force, because of his long legs and the fact that when on duty in a police station he constantly walked the floor with long, rapid strides. He also was referred to as one of "Jenk's babies," because he was in the class of police recruits of 1880 that was trained in police work by Capt. Jenks, who at that time was a veteran of the force. His widow, Mrs. Mary Mansfield, survives.

CROWDED GALLERY HEARS STIRRING SENATE DEBATE ON OIL SCANDAL

WALSH OUTLINES CASE FOR ANNULMENT OF LEASES AND DEMANDS DENBY'S OUSTERMontana Senator Adheres to Plain Record While Other Senators Denounce Oil Deals
as Crooked and Corrupt.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, in a speech of nearly four hours in the Senate, yesterday, unfolded the story of the naval oil leases, laying a judicial foundation for action by Congress for recovery by the Government. It was the most impressive summary so far presented, purposely free from characterization of the scandals and corruption involved. It represented the fruits of the Montana Senator's months of exhaustive research, inquiry and examination of witnesses that culminated finally in the sensational disclosures of the last two weeks.

Packed galleries listened to the debate. More Senators were in their seats than at any time since Congress convened, and they sat through Senator Walsh's long arraignment. Except for aattering defense of the President and an occasional mild word in Murphy's behalf, none rose to defend the Administration.

Senator Lenroot (R. Wis.) had read to the Senate a further letter from Edward L. Doheny, confirming his offer to restore the property he had obtained if his Pan-American Oil and Transport Co. were allowed to operate it long enough to get back some $5,000,000 expended.

Immediate objection was made, even to considering the proffer, however, and discussion turned to pointing out that possible criminal prosecution might come. Answering Senator Robinson (D. Ark.), Senator Lenroot said he had heard of no offers from Sinclair to make restitution.

Senator Walsh, by whose efforts the entire case has been built up, obtained the floor after Senator Heflin (D. Ala.) had interjected a stinging tirade that the "Federal departments are honeycombed with crooks and gorged with graft, and challenged President Coolidge's assertion that Democrats, as well as Republicans, were involved in the oil scandals."

"Why give two or three attorneys a big fat job to go through weeks and months to find out whether Sinclair's act was crooked or not?" demanded Senator Heflin, urging adoption of a resolution canceling the oil lease outright.

"I know that it was crooked. I know furthermore that he dined at the White House not long ago and that Doheny has been up there paying his respects. Then talk about Democrats being involved. There is corruption in every department of the Government."

"Talk about the President. I do not care who the official is, whether he is Democrat or Republican, let us get at the bottom of this thing. The minute we find out he has done a crooked, thieving thing, let Congress condemn it and declare it void and let him go into court at his own expense and let us see whether or not it is legal."

Judicial Summary of the Evidence.

Senator Walsh then began his impressive judicial summary of the evidence, tracing the history of the oil lands from the time President Roosevelt preached conservation and President Taft made it effective in 1909.

"It was recognized," said the Senator, "that oil was to be the principal fuel of the navy and, with great precedence, President Roosevelt directed the geological survey to make careful inquiry among the public lands of the nation for such areas as this, that they might be set aside for future needs of the navy."

"In 1912, two areas in California were especially set aside by President Taft as naval reserves, the one in what is known as the Elk Hills region becoming Naval Reserve No. 1, and the other in the Buena Vista hills, becoming known as Naval Reserve No. 2."

"In 1915 President Wilson set apart the area thus withdrawn from entry in the State of Wyoming and it became known as Naval Reserve No. 3. It has been popularly described as the Teapot Dome, and is generally referred to by that designation."

Explaining how claimants sought to keep or be reimbursed for some of these properties, the speaker told how, when Josephus Daniels was Secretary of the Navy, he was criticized for his vigor in opposing such claims.

"In 1919 Congress passed an act to deal with land outside the naval reserves but not in the state of Wyoming. The Secretary of the Interior was allowed to lease only actual producing wells within the naval reserves."

"Congress intended," continued Senator Walsh, "that the Secretary of the Interior should have no control over the Naval Reserves and it reposed in the Secretary of the Navy the power, and in him alone, to conserve and operate those reserves and use, store, exchange or sell the oil or oil products from the same."

"It would have been impossible in the state of the public mind at that time, and in the state of feeling in Congress, to have invested the Secretary of the Interior with anything like the power by which the Congress of the United States by this act reposed in the Secretary of the Navy."

"Yet the present administration had barely got warm in the seats which they occupied by the mandate of the people of the United States until, President of the United States signed an executive order transferring the entire administration of the naval reserve from the Secretary of the Navy to the Secretary of the Interior."

"It is in evidence before the committee that as early as the first part of April the Secretary of the Navy told the chief of the Bureau of Engineers that he intended to transfer the administration of these reserves to the Secretary of the Interior."

"I apprehend that no man will rise up on the floor to defend this order. It is indefensible; no justification whatever can be found in the law for it. Of course, so far as the legality of these leases is concerned, it is perhaps of no particular importance because the officers themselves exhibited their doubt of their legality by seeing that the leases were signed both by the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of the Navy; but the importance of it springs from the circumstances under which it was executed and the transactions which followed thereafter."

Secrecy and Doheny's
Visit to an Admiral.

"Congress said the Secretary of the Navy shall take care of these reserves, shall conserve them for the use of the navy."

"Secretary Fall, to justify transfer of authority, called attention in a letter to Senator La Follette to the act of June 15, 1920, and the act of June 4, 1920. Then he said if it were necessary to do so it could be entirely justified under the Overman law."

"When Secretary Fall was upon the stand he was confronted with the Overman act, which discloses upon its face that it applied only to acts passed during the progress of the war for the successful prosecution and to no other acts, and the Secretary was obliged to admit that the Overman act was no justification whatever."

"His attention was then called to the fact that the act of June 25, 1920, reposed certain powers in the Secretary of the Navy, namely the power to lease producing wells on the naval reserve, and that the act of June 4, 1920, devolved certain powers upon the Secretary of the Navy, and he was asked to show wherein either act was the authority for the President to transfer either power from the one officer to the other and he was obliged to admit there was no such power here."

"About the origin of this executive order Secretary Denby takes upon himself full responsibility for it. I venture to assert that he has not the intellectual vigor to conceive of such an idea."

"The original draft of the order was made by Secretary Fall."

"The then Chief of the Bureau of Engineering was Admiral Griffin, who had exercised for a number of years the care and preservation of these naval reserves. When Mr. Denby told him, some 30 days after he took his seat, that he proposed to transfer the administration of these naval reserves, to the Secretary of the Interior, Admiral Griffin protested against it. So did every officer in the Navy Department who theretofore had had a thing to do with these naval reserves. The draft was confided to the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Roosevelt, who took it to Secretary Fall, Mr. Roosevelt then took the executive order to the President."

"Mr. Denby told us that he wrote a letter to the President of the United States transmitting this executive order, and to the President the protest of Admiral Griffin."

"Secretary Denby came upon the stand and told us that he had transmitted the letter. It appeared, however, that the letter never was transmitted to the President; neither was the protest of Admiral Griffin ever transmitted to the President. The executive order was carried to the President by the Assistant Secretary of the Navy and there went with it in some form or other the original draft of the letter of transmittal made by Secretary Fall, transmitted for the signature of the Secretary of the Navy but which he never signed."

"So the order was made at the White House without any official record in the executive office as to the reason for which it was made, except the unsigned letter which was drafted for the signature of Secretary Denby."

"That order was signed May 31, 1921. In October following Admiral Griffin retired, and it became necessary to select a successor. Admiral Robison was chosen."

"During the war Admiral Robison was the commander of a ship in Pensacola harbor in the State of Florida. One of his junior officers was the son of E. L. Doheny. The older gentleman visited his son there and met the commander of the ship. The matter of the naval reserves was discussed, and the policy pursued by Secretary Daniels.

"Mr. Doheny said Secretary Daniels was unjustified and that the proper policy was to take the oil out of the reserves and store it in tanks. Admiral Robison became entirely imbued with the ideas thus installed into his mind by Mr. Doheny, and it is a striking coincidence that among all the officers of the navy, eminent men, distinguished in their particular branch of the service, it just so happened that Admiral Robison, under the tutelage that I have mentioned, was the one who

History of Teapot Dome Lease to Sinclair.

"Then followed the Teapot Dome lease to Sinclair.

"About the close of 1921, Mr. Sinclair, with his attorney, Mr. Zevly, proceeded to Three Rivers, N. M., at which place the Secretary of the Interior, former Senator Fall, was then on his ranch.

"Toward the close of 1921 Mr. Sinclair, in his private car, visited at Three Rivers, N. M., with his wife and his attorney. While there they began the negotiations which eventuated in the execution of the lease of Teapot Dome. That lease was executed by Secretary Fall on the seventh day of the following April. It was signed by Secretary Denby on April 12.

"The matter was done without any knowledge whatever of it on the part of the public. Senator Kendrick of Wyoming sent his secretary to the office of the Secretary of the Interior for information, but was unable to secure any.

"On April 16 the Senator from Wyoming introduced in this body a resolution calling upon the Secretary for information as to whether the lease had been executed or not and on April 23, 1922, a letter was sent to the Senate in response, declaring that the lease had been executed on April 7.

"It does appear, however, that on April 14, 1922, brief information concerning the execution of the lease was published in the Wall Street Journal.

"The lease was for the entire area of Naval Reserve No. 2, a total acreage of about 9,000 acres.

"The subsequent lease of Naval Reserve No. 1 covers a total of 23,000 acres. The general leasing law of 1920 provided that no persons should secure a lease of any of these lands in an amount greater than 440 acres.

"The lease was for 20 years, or as long as oil can be taken from the ground in commercial quantities. It provides for the paying of royalties to the Government running from 12 1/2 to 50 per cent, depending on the productivity of the wells. The average royalty thus far secured from the operations conducted upon Naval Reserve No. 2 is between 15 and 17 per cent, that is to say that under this lease the Government becomes entitled to 15 to 17 per cent of the oil actually extracted from the field.

"But the Government does not get that oil. By the terms of the lease it is all sold to Sinclair and Sinclair pays for it to the Government of the United States. The oil certificates cite the amount of oil which is sold by the Government of the United States to Mr. Sinclair and the price at which the oil is sold is governed by the prevailing price in the Salt Creek field or in the Mid-Continent field, or at least by the price paid by the Prairie Oil Co. or the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Co. in the Mid-Continent field, an institution controlled by Sinclair.

"Under the contract Sinclair agrees to construct for the Government steel tank farms at the seaboard and he is to be paid for that work of construction with these oil certificates.

"It is in evidence that it takes about two barrels of oil to pay for the construction of one barrel of storage. So that, of the 16 per cent which the Government is entitled to get a royalty, one-third of that, or 6 per cent, it actually gets in oil in the tanks.

"The Navy Department under Admiral Robinson has a plan for the construction of storage tanks expected to cost $12,000,000.

"The officers seek to justify application of the oil coming out of the naval reserves to the construction of these tanks under the use of either the words 'store' or 'exchange' in the statute.

"Secretary Fall stated that the Secretary of the Navy and Secretary of the Interior had the advice of counsel and an opinion by the Judge Advocate General of the Navy in justification of this use of the oil. An opinion was put in evidence from the Judge Advocate General of the Navy justifying this and the use of the word 'exchange' in the statute. It was disclosed that the Judge Advocate General of the ### Case of the "Cat and Dog" Claims.

Showing that "cat and dog" claims were cleared out of the way by Sinclair for $1,000,000. Walsh continued: "If Sinclair had not paid $1,000,000 to clear off these cat and dog claims, he would have been able to pay the Government $1,000,000 more for the lease than he did. The Government of the United States paid $1,000,000 for those claims. They paid it to the Pioneer Oil Co., which in some manner or other had gathered to itself all these claims.

"The Pioneer Oil Co. is a subsidiary of the Mid-West Co., a subsidiary of the Mid-West Co., a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, so that Standard Oil Co. was paid $1,000,000 for those spurious claims. The Standard Oil Co. was a potential bidder for this lease on the Teapot Dome, but Mr. Sinclair paid them $1,000,000 to get out of the field.

"Senator Walsh disclosed that by chance the committee found that James O. Lewis of Ohio, employed as geologist by the investigating committee, was found to have previously approved the Teapot lease. The Senator continued: "At the time the lease was taken the Bureau of Mines had estimated that there were in the Teapot Dome some 135,000,000 barrels of oil. Mr. Doherty told us that he figured—and as I understand, that is the basis upon which most oil men figure—that they make $1 a barrel on oil. So Mr. Sinclair might easily figure that he would make $135,000,000 out of the 135,000,000 barrels of oil which were to be taken from the reserve."

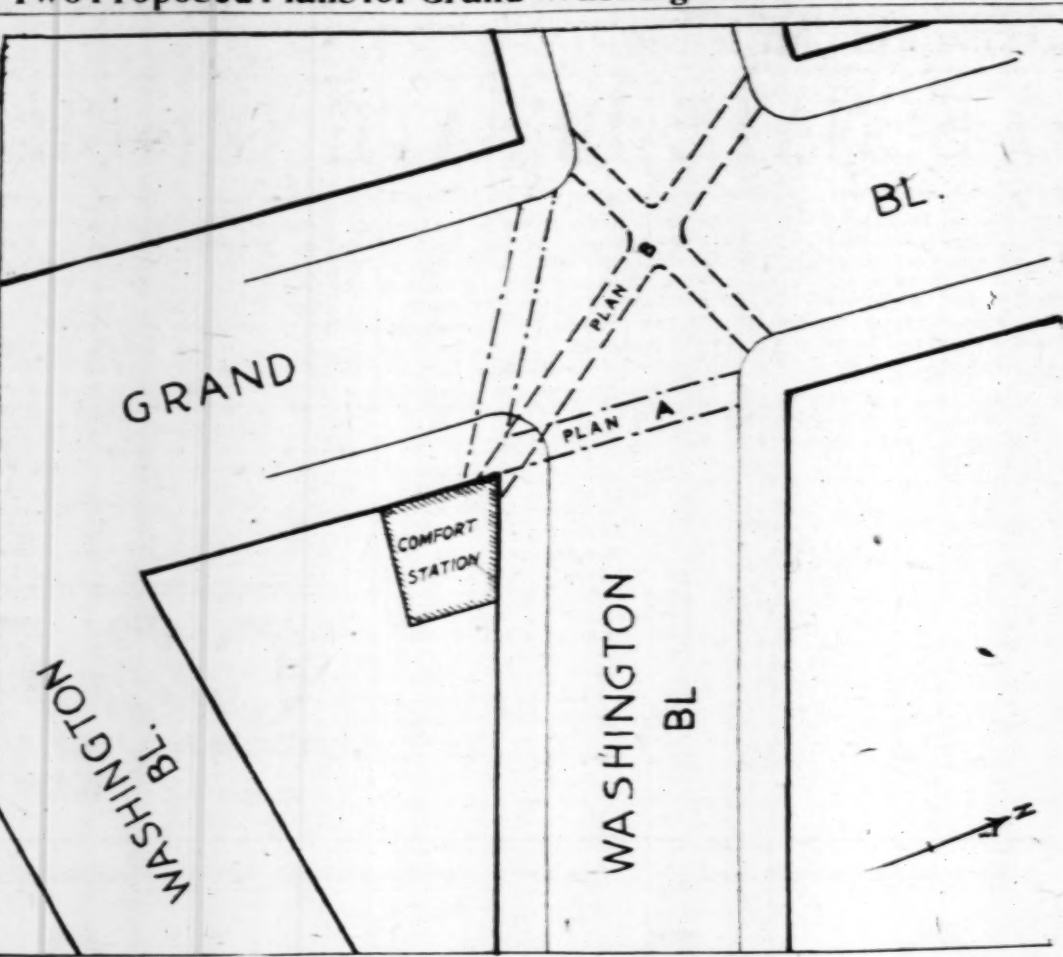

Explaining that Sinclair contracted to build a pipe line from the Wyoming fields, Senator Walsh went on: "The Sinclair crude oil purchasing company is owned by Mr. Sinclair and the Standard Oil Co., so that the pipe line will inure to the benefit of Mr. Sinclair and the Standard Oil Companies. Senator Walsh brought out that Doherty submitted an open bid to the navy to build tanks at Honolulu to store 1,500,000 barrels of oil but he would cut $200,000 off the price if given first rights to Naval Reserve No. 1.

"That alternative bid was accepted," said the speaker, "so that to all intents and purposes the contract was let to Mr. Doherty without any bidding.

"Mr. Doherty agreed to construct these oil tanks at Pearl Harbor, took his pay for the work in oil and he was to have a preference right to a lease of this tract.

"Mr. Doherty went on with that work, but the royalty oil coming of the Government from its few wells not coming anywhere near meeting the cost of the construction of the tanks and other tanks, the navy gave him a lease of the

Two Proposed Plans for Grand-Washington Pedestrian Tunnel

TWO plans for the proposed Grand-Washington tunnel for pedestrians have been prepared for the Board of Public Service, at the instance of Director Falk of the Department of Streets. Only one of the plans will be used.

The first plan, indicated on the accompanying diagram as Plan A, provides for an L-shaped tunnel, from the southwest corner of Grand and Washington buildings to the Humboldt building, to the southeast corner, on the cutoff triangle, and thence across Washington to the northeast corner, by the Third Baptist Church. No connection to the northwest, or University Club corner, is provided by this plan, and pedestrians on the west side of Grand would still have to walk across Washington on the surface.

The second, Plan B, is for an X-shaped passage reaching all four corners. Under this plan, those walking on either the east or the west side of Grand, or the east or west side of Washington, by the tunnel, would have to take a V-shaped course to the middle of Grand and back. The tunnel would be reached by stairways.

Director Falk will ask the Board of Public Service to approve one of the plans in time to have the necessary expenditure included in this year's municipal budget. He estimates the cost at $25,000.

whole 32,000 acres of Naval Reserve No. 1.

Doherty Case Hidden by Teapot Uproar.

This lease was not slight of in the uproar over Teapot Dome and was a complete surprise to the Senate Committee when discovered, Senator Walsh showed.

Turning to the fraud charges, the speaker said: "It was disclosed that, although Secretary Fall had admitted in the year 1920 that he was financially broke, that he had not paid his local taxes for 10 years, that just about the time he entered upon these negotiations, with Sinclair he had purchased a ranch which was adjacent to his own, and said to be the finest ranch in that part of New Mexico, that he paid for it, together with the cattle that went with it and the equipment, the sum of $91,500.

"It also was disclosed that he had purchased other land for which he paid $32,000; that he had put upon his place a hydro-electric plant that must have cost something between $40,000 and $50,000; that he had bought some blooded livestock in the State of Kentucky for which he paid, outside of the cost of transportation, some $3000.

"Senator Fall came East, stopping at Chicago, New York and Atlantic City and finally in Washington. He conveyed the intelligence that he was quite ill and committee, in which he stated he had borrowed the money with which to make the purchase, at least to the extent of $100,000, from Edward E. McLean of this city, and that the remainder of the money he had borrowed from banking interests in the State of Colorado with headquarters in the city of Pueblo.

"We then took the new deposition of Mr. McLean in Palm Beach, Fla., in the course of which he said that he had loaned Fall $100,000 and had given him three checks to that amount, but that the checks had been returned to him and had never been cashed and that as a matter of fact he did not loan Mr. Fall any money. Meanwhile Mr. McLean had wired the committee desiring to be excused from attendance on account of ill health.

"Mr. McLean, however, answered, saying Mr. McLean had stated the facts and that as a matter of fact he did not get the money from Mr. McLean.

Archie Roosevelt Appears on the Scene.

Then appeared Mr. Archibald Roosevelt, son of the late President, who testified that Mr. Sinclair had left the country rather hurriedly, if not suddenly, and that his private secretary had told him, Mr. Roosevelt, in the course of a conversation between them, that he had seen canceled checks to the amount of $68,000 by Mr. Sinclair or by the Hyva Corporation, a private corporation of Mr. Sinclair, payable to the order of the foreman of Mr. Fall's ranch.

"The private secretary admitted the general conversation with Mr. Roosevelt. He denied that he had any knowledge of the details of the character. In this connection Mr. Roosevelt said:

"I was a memorandum signed by Mr. Holland and addressed to Mr. Daugherty. It touched the appointment of three men to judicial positions in the territory of Hawaii. Mr. Holland told me that the Attorney-General had there was an election coming on in the territory of Hawaii, and that the chairman of the Republican Committee had told him that the appointments ought to be made right away because it would be very important to them in the ensuing election."

Senator Walsh concluded with his demand for Denby's resignation, saying: "The Congress imposed upon him by the Act of June 4, 1922, duties and responsibilities which he undertook to perform, and yet he was perfectly willing to divest himself of these, turn them over to an officer in whom the Congress of the United States never could be induced to place the responsibilities. Such an act on the part of an officer of the Government in a high official station of itself discloses unfitness for a great part of that character, but the evidence in this case disclosed not only that he surrendered that but that he entirely disregarded anything that was done in reference to these reserves.

He charges his mind with the whole matter so slightly that he did not even know that this great reserve of 32,000 acres out in California had been leased, although he went through the formality of signing his name to the instrument. The Secretary excused himself on the ground that he could not attend to all details of his great office. If the Secretary of the Navy understands that a lease of 32,000 acres of public lands, containing as it is estimated 135,000,000 barrels of oil, out of which the Roosevelt stated that conditions there were so suspicious and so fraught with suggestions of corruption on the part of his employer, Mr. Sinclair, that he resigned, and the private secretary of Mr. Sinclair also resigned.

"Then came Mr. Doherty, who tells us that on Nov. 20, 1921, he loaned Secretary Fall $100,000.

"Mr. Doherty states that this was after he had entered into the lease of June 21, 1921, or a long time before he had entered into the lease contract of April 23, 1922, for the construction of the tanks at Pearl Harbor, and more than a year prior to the time that he got the lease of Naval Reserve No. 1."

Senator Walsh, in reply to a question, said the committee would bring all contracts and agreements between the Sinclair interests and the Government under the terms of the resolution.

He thought all the Denby contracts and leases should be included in the Walsh resolution.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, demanded to know whether the President, when he reaches the conclusion that the lease was imprudent and negligently, not to say corruptly, executed will say to Secretary Denby: "Here's your hat, what's your hurry?"

The Democratic leader declared that throughout President Wilson's administration persistent but unsuccessful efforts were made to secure monopolistic interests to secure an opportunity to exploit the naval oil reserves.

The Democratic Secretary of the Navy, Josephus Daniels, resisted, and denounced these efforts, and it was only after the change of administration following the election of 1920 that the mysterious and unexplained scheme was conceived to transfer the naval oil reserves from the control of the Secretary of the Navy.

Senator Heflin (D., Ala.), declared President Coolidge had done nothing to prosecute those who have pilaged and plundered the public domain.

"Instead," he said, "he has kept in his Cabinet the Secretary of the Navy, Edwin Denby, who was a member of the Ballinger Commission, which returned a report exonerating Ballinger as Secretary of the Interior."

"We might as well be frank," he said, "and say that the whole thing is a disgrace to the American people."

Standard Oil and the Case of Denby.

Walsh then traced the years of dispute over whether "Standard Oil" was rightfully leased to the Standard Oil Co. as "agricultural land" or should revert to the Government as "mineral land."

The Government succeeded in ousting the Standard Oil Co. in a like case, but for some unexplained reason the file relating to Standard was "misplaced" in the general land office from 1917 to 1920.

The Department of Justice under President Wilson began proceedings to recover known as the Elk Hill suit. The Standard by this time had taken $10,000,000 worth of oil out of Elk Hills, Walsh declared.

"The case got to the office of the Attorney-General just immediately before the 4th day of March, 1921, in the course of which he said that he had loaned Fall $100,000 and had given him three checks to that amount, but that the checks had been returned to him and had never been cashed and that as a matter of fact he did not loan Mr. Fall any money. Meanwhile Mr. McLean had wired the committee desiring to be excused from attendance on account of ill health.

"Mr. McLean, however, answered, saying Mr. McLean had stated the facts and that as a matter of fact he did not get the money from Mr. McLean.

Archie Roosevelt Appears on the Scene.

Then appeared Mr. Archibald Roosevelt, son of the late President, who testified that Mr. Sinclair had left the country rather hurriedly, if not suddenly, and that his private secretary had told him, Mr. Roosevelt, in the course of a conversation between them, that he had seen canceled checks to the amount of $68,000 by Mr. Sinclair or by the Hyva Corporation, a private corporation of Mr. Sinclair, payable to the order of the foreman of Mr. Fall's ranch.

"The private secretary admitted the general conversation with Mr. Roosevelt. He denied that he had any knowledge of the details of the character. In this connection Mr. Roosevelt said:

"I was a memorandum signed by Mr. Holland and addressed to Mr. Daugherty. It touched the appointment of three men to judicial positions in the territory of Hawaii. Mr. Holland told me that the Attorney-General had there was an election coming on in the territory of Hawaii, and that the chairman of the Republican Committee had told him that the appointments ought to be made right away because it would be very important to them in the ensuing election."

Senator Walsh concluded with his demand for Denby's resignation, saying: "The Congress imposed upon him by the Act of June 4, 1922, duties and responsibilities which he undertook to perform, and yet he was perfectly willing to divest himself of these, turn them over to an officer in whom the Congress of the United States never could be induced to place the responsibilities. Such an act on the part of an officer of the Government in a high official station of itself discloses unfitness for a great part of that character, but the evidence in this case disclosed not only that he surrendered that but that he entirely disregarded anything that was done in reference to these reserves.

He charges his mind with the whole matter so slightly that he did not even know that this great reserve of 32,000 acres out in California had been leased, although he went through the formality of signing his name to the instrument. TOOK $80,000 GEMS, FLED IN BATHING SUIT

Girl Prisoner Who Confesses, Theft Pretended She Had Been Drowned.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Helen Golden today confessed the theft of $80,000 worth of jewels from the apartment of Morris Abrams at Hotel Ambassador, Atlantic City, N. J., in August, 1922, according to the police. She denied, however, theft of $50,000 worth of jewelry from the Hotel Ambassador here, where she had been employed as a maid.

The Atlantic City robbery was planned by a sweetheart whose name she gave the police and who deserted her, after taking the jewels, she said. She escaped from Atlantic City by pretending to be drowned in the surf.

Police said she had been employed as a maid in the Hotel Ambassador here, using the name of "Anna Hall," and had left the hotel after the robbery of $50,000 worth of jewels from the suite of Mrs. Margaret Throop. She was traced through the label in a discarded hat.

When arrested she had about $1000 worth of jewels and a loaded revolver. A telegram he had just received read: "Send on the stuff."

Helen walked out of a hotel in Atlantic City clad only in a bathing suit and never returned. The theory was that she had been drowned while in bathing and reports to that effect were published in the newspapers.

FOUR WELL-DRESSED YOUNG MEN HOLD UP LAUNDRY OFFICE

Nervous Robbers Get $210 In Maplewood Shortly After Distribution of $2500 Payroll.

Four young men, characterized by neat attire, comparatively pleasant conduct and evident nervousness, held up The Laundry, Inc., 7115-19 Manchester avenue, Maplewood, at 4:30 p. m. yesterday, and obtained $210. Apparently they were after the $2500 weekly payroll, which had been distributed half an hour earlier. The laundry is on the main street of the suburb and there was considerable traffic at the time.

One youth stayed at the wheel of a Buick touring car in front of the place and, it was reported, flourished a revolver in sight of passers-by as he awaited his companions. Walter E. Breneman of 5696 Kingsbury avenue, manager, a young woman bookkeeper and two wagon drivers were behind a partition in the front office.

Each of the three who went inside drew a revolver. "Hands up," one of them commanded, but a moment later another ordered: "Hands down." Two of them stayed outside the partition, while the third went within and took $210 from the cash drawer. The youth complied with Breneman's request to leave behind memoranda needed in the office. Another young woman employee entered from the rear, saw what was going on and ran back. The men in the entrance space swore and hurried their companion out. The robbers drove rapidly east in their machine.

$205,658 SPENT LAST YEAR IN OBTAINING THE "EVIDENCE"

Some Dry Agents Have to Drink to Make Cases, Prohibition Officers Explain.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Federal agents in their efforts last year to enforce the prohibition and narcotic laws spent $205,658 of Government funds in buying "evidence."

This total was given by Assistant Prohibition Commissioner Jones in testimony before the House Appropriations Committee which today recommended that $18,263,770 be set aside for prohibition enforcement during the coming fiscal year.

Jones said the agents used marked money whenever possible, which they sometimes got back. The amount of liquor an agent must buy to clinch his case, he said, depends on the bootlegger, and runs from a half pint to a carload. "Does the prohibition agent drink the whiskey when he buys it?" asked Chairman Madden. "Sometimes he has to," replied Jones. "In order to make a second buy to use as evidence."

"So the agent," remarked Madden, "is usually not a prohibitionist."

"Some of them," Jones came back, "have to drink."

Champion Lewis And Gardini to Meet Here Feb. 5

Announcement Disappoints Greek Colony, Which Had Been Working for London.

By John E. Wray,

Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Over the protests of a committee representing 1000 Greeks, promoter Tom Packer today announced that he had matched Champion "Strangler" Ed Lewis of Kansas City and Renato Gardini of Boston for a best two-out-of-three-fall match, to be held at the Coliseum Feb. 5. Lewis is said to have been guaranteed $5000—win, lose or draw. The last two remote contingencies may be eliminated from all conjecture.

The announcement followed a telegram from Joe Stecher stating that he would be unable to accept a match with Gardini on Feb. 5, as he was booked for that occasion. Following an agreement he said he had made with London and Gardini before their recent match, Promoter Packer decided he was compelled to put on Gardini with Lewis. He said it was understood by both London and Gardini that the winner was to get either Stecher or Lewis for the next show here.

The excuse will probably serve to reduce the temperature in the cupolas of the Greek colony, which had reached white heat as a result of the defeat of London by Gardini in a recent match here.

London Supporters Meet in Church.
A mass meeting of Greeks Sunday night held at the Greek Orthodox Church, Carlson and St. Louis avenues, appointed a committee to wait on Packer and the press, and set forth the willingness of the Greek colony to underwrite the Gardini end of the purse up to $2000.

In addition, petitions circulated in various Greek stores and restaurants with hundreds of names signed thereto, were ready for presentation to the promoters.

The announcement that Packer had chosen Lewis as Gardini's opponent came as a big surprise.

Tony Fathano, 416 Washington avenue, owner of a taxicab stand and spokesman for the Greek committee, expressed disappointment, but said the committee would continue their original demand of a match within 20 days for London with Gardini.

The club has another February date at the Coliseum and it is possible that London will get the Gardini match on that day.

LEACOCK BASKETBALL TEAM TO PLAY K. C. A. C. AND HILLARY QUINTETS
The Leacock team of the Municipal Basketball League, leader in one of the divisions, will play the Kansas City A. C. five at Kansas City, Feb. 22 and the Hillarys at St. Joseph, Feb. 23. The Leacocks expect to compete in the national A. C. A. U. tournament at Kansas City in March and are desirous of getting competition. Paddy Fitzgerald, coach of the team, expects the K. C. A. C. and Hillarys to be two of the leading contenders.

Players on the Leacock team are Deal, formerly of Purdue, forward; Russell, Washington, C. guard; Goodell, Cleveland High School, all-star guard; Dick Lubbe, St. Louis U. High, guard; Cummins and Johnson, Centralia (Ill.) High, forwards; Baldy Thumser, Washington, E., and Wilson, with the quietest last year, centers.

Angelica Club to Fight Forfeiture Of $2500 Bond

Attorney Dubinsky Says Ordinance Authorizing Boxing Commission Is Not Valid.

WIEDERLUECKE HAS PLAN

Member of City Board Would Have All Clubs Post Cash Guarantees for All Bouts.

By Dent McSkimming.

That a vigorous fight will be made against the City Boxing Commission, in which it will be sought to prove that the Boxing Board is an illegal organization, was indicated yesterday by Carl M. Dubinsky, attorney and member of the board of directors of the Angelica Physical Culture Club.

"We will not surrender our bond of $2500," said Dubinsky yesterday. "The surety company and the club will formulate a plan whereby we may resist the efforts of the commission to collect."

"Will you have your plan on the fact that there is a State law against boxing, and that the game cannot be legalized locally?" Dubinsky was asked.

Thinks Ordinance Unconstitutional.
"No, I do not believe there is a law against PRIVATE boxing exhibitions. We believe we can prove that the ordinance authorizing the appointment of the commission by the Mayor is in itself unconstitutional, and that the commission, therefore, has no power to seize a $2500 bond or to prevent any club holding a State charter from holding private bouts in the State."

Secretary Bob Junod of the City Commission yesterday notified the surety company that its bond of $2500 had been forfeited.

A meeting of the Commission will be held this afternoon. One of the board members, Herman Krause, has introduced into the Board of Aldermen a resolution asking for the repeal of the ordinance creating the City Boxing Commission. One or two other members of the commission have expressed the desire either to straighten out the tangled situation or immediately resign.

Chairman Uhlemeyer, at a meeting last week, told the members that he believed the board could continue to function and that boxing exhibitions could be held as formerly, with stricter supervision by the Commission.

A plan suggested by August Wiederluecke, a commissioner, would force all promoters operating here to post in cash or certified check with the Commission the full sum involved in guarantees to fighters.

It was the failure of the Angelica Club to produce guaranteed purses which resulted in the failure of a show at the Coliseum Jan. 18 and brought upon the present situation.

American Athletic Stars to Compete in Millrose Games

Special Events Will Be Feature of Events Starting at Madison Square Garden Tonight—Murchison Expects Close Races and Fast Time.

By Loren Murchison, U. S. Outdoor and Indoor Sprint Champion.

(Copyright, 1924.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The greatest set of indoor track and field games ever contested will be run off at the Madison Square Garden tonight and tomorrow night. The famous Millrose games, with all their past history, present a program that has never been equaled on the boards.

Although I have competed in the games for more than five years, I expect to see more fast races and close finishes than ever before. Formerly a few champions, either world's or national top part, but this year every runner of note on this side of the Atlantic is entered.

For the first night of competition, which will see mostly handicap races and relay contests, there are over a thousand entries. Races at almost all of the distances will be contested. A special handicap 50 yard dash will be one of the features. In this event many of the best sprinters will compete. It is the stepping stone to the big Millrose sixty yards special tomorrow night. The first two runners to finish in the 50 will be eligible to meet Boots Lever, former intercollegiate 100 yard champion and holder of the world's record for 70, and myself in the 60 yards special.

East vs. West Relay Race.
Among the other feature events for tonight will be a special East versus West relay in which eight of the best quarter milers in the country will run. The West will be represented by H. M. Fitch, senior national quarter mile champion; Victor Ascher, junior national quarter mile champion; Dick Wolter, Western Conference champion, and Ray Dodge.

The Eastern team will include Jake Driscoll, former Intercollegiate quarter mile champion; Dudley, from Boston, former junior national quarter title holder and two other stars. I favor the Western team to capture the title.

There will be a special quarter mile relay race for women on the opening night. In this contest an international flavor has been added by the entry of a team from Toronto. The Canadian girls will meet the Meadowbrook four, holders of the American outdoor record.

For tomorrow night the committee has arranged the greatest set of invitation events ever held, with the special events, such as the Millrose 600 and the Rodman Wana-maker mile and a half leading.

Experts Heirich to Repeat.
The Millrose 600 has seen many famous men come and go, but no runner has ever won the trophy three times. Allan Heirich, the Penn State captain, who won last year, will try to repeat, but he will have plenty of competition. The men standing in his way are Vince Tully, of New York, Jake Driscoll of Boston, Tom Campbell of Yale and Ray Dodge. I look for Heirich to repeat unless he is out of condition.

Joie Ray will run in the special three quarters of a mile and the mile and a half. In the three quarters, the American mile champion will meet Ray Watson, his teammate; Russel Wharton, of Chicago; Hahn of Boston and Schuyler, of Penn State. Enck last year took the national collegiate mile championship in fast time.

In the mile and a half, Ray will meet Cox of Mercersburg, Ray Butler of Boston and a number of other stars.

Select Field in High Jump.
The special 50-yard hurdle race will find the best of the American stars in competition. Anderson, the fastest man in the West, will make his first appearance in the East in the event, while Charley Moore, the promising timber topper from Penn State, will also be on hand.

In the high jump a select field has been picked. Dick Landon and Leroy Brower set last year set a new world's indoor record in the Millrose games are the headliners. Osborne from the West and Norton

Layton Sets New 3-Cushion Record

St. Louisian Runs Out String of 50 Points in 26 Innings, to Beat Kieckhefer.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Johnny Layton, St. Louis representative in the National Three-Cushion League, broke the world's record for a 50-point match or tournament play last night, when he ran his string out in 26 innings, beating Augie Kieckhefer, Chicago, 50 to 26.

Layton clipped three innings off the former record held by Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, who beat Pierre Maupome here in 29 innings last season. He clicked off seven for his high run, one of six, two of four and three threes.

Denton Wins Two.
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 29.—Tiff Denton of this city won two games from George Moore in the National Three-Cushion League here yesterday. The scores were 50 to 42 in 62 innings and 50 to 39 in 56 innings.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 29.—Frank Taberski of Detroit took two National Pocket Billiard League games from L. Stoutenburgh of this city yesterday. The scores were 100 to 52 in 28 innings and 100 to 19 in 7 innings.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 29.—Jerome Keogh and Mature divided a pair of Pocket Billiard League games here yesterday. Mature won 100 to 48, in 14 innings, and Keogh triumphed, 100 to 92 in 29 innings.

from Georgetown are others who will try for a new record from the board take-off.

A special 300-yard run race is to be held this year. The best sprinters are entered. As for myself, I hardly think I will run in the event, but expect a very fast race.

Triple A Annual Meeting.
The St. Louis Amateur Athletic Association (Triple "A") will hold their annual meeting at a dinner to be given at the Forest Park Hotel on Saturday, Feb. 23. A man prominent in national athletics will be the principal speaker. Reservations can be made through St. P. Louder, assistant secretary of Triple "A."

Murchison to Report All Indoor Meets for Post-Dispatch Readers

LOREN MURCHISON, champion in four sprint distances and the greatest runner of the day at 500 yards and under, a former St. Louis and McKinley high school boy, has been engaged by the Post-Dispatch to report the six major athletic events of the winter months.

These events have a direct bearing on the determining of the athletes to be selected for the American Olympic team, of which Murchison undoubtedly will be a member. Murchison will also cover the Olympic games for the Post-Dispatch.

TAKE BACK YOUR CASH AND GIVE US PLAYERS, SAY SAINTS TO REDS

By the Associated Press. ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 29.—The St. Paul American Association club yesterday received a check for $15,000 from the Cincinnati Nationals, completing the $25,000 payment for Pitcher Tom Sheehan.

John W. Norton, president of the Saints, indicated he would return the $15,000 to Cincinnati and ask that three players—a pitcher, outfielder and first baseman—be sent instead as the final payment.

When Sheehan was sold to the Reds Norton agreed to terms of $15,000 cash and three players valued at $5000 each.

Cincinnati, it was said, could not furnish the players and sent the second check. St. Paul has sent several stars, including Bubblers Hargrave, Babe Benton and Sheehan to the Reds, and it was said that if a satisfactory arrangement is not completed in the Sheehan deal, the Saints will not deal with the National League team in the future.

"POPULAR"

Pertaining to the people at large; widely trusted or admired; prevalent among the people.—Standard Dictionary.

In every city in America there is one newspaper that is universally recognized as the most popular "want ad" medium. That distinction is the most envied that can come to any great newspaper, because it is the favorable verdict of all of the people, rendered only for faithful service to readers and profitable results to advertisers.

Supremacy in the "want ad" field in any city is a priceless possession of that distinguished newspaper which has earned it. It must be secured through years of satisfactory results to the advertiser—satisfactory service to the reader. It cannot be obtained through schemes of inflation or even the absolutely free insertion of advertisements. It must be built by service and protected by the rejection of the unworthy or the misleading advertisement.

In 1923 the Post-Dispatch Carried
4,807,880 Lines
of Real Estate and Want Advertising

The Post-Dispatch Gained $19,400 Lines of Real Estate and Want Advertising in 1923 Over 1922, Which Made Last Year the Greatest Year the Post-Dispatch Has Ever Recorded in Real Estate and Want Advertising.

This was 855,080 lines more than the combined volume of Real Estate and Want Ads published in 1923 by BOTH the Globe-Democrat and The Star.

Real Estate and Want advertisers in St. Louis have learned that results—plus economy—can be obtained through concentration in St. Louis' ONE BIG "Want" Directory—the Post-Dispatch.

in Killed, 1000 Prisoners at Keystone of Their Defense.By Radio Direct From Mexico City to the Post-Dispatch (Station KSD) for the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 22.—Capture by Federal troops of the important railroad junction of Esperanza was announced yesterday by the War Department. This ends the first phase of the movement against Vera Cruz, according to Secretary Serrano, with the loss by the revolutionists of the keystone of their defense.From details which are coming through, it is indicated that the action at Esperanza was the most sanguinary of the rebellion. More than 400 rebels were killed and a thousand made prisoners, the dispatches state. Federal losses were not reported.A brilliant flank movement by Gen. Almazan brought the action to a close and left the prisoners in the hands of the Obregonistas.The Eastern army will now press on to Orizaba, according to plans.Mexican Federals Claim to Have Driven Wedge.WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Claim that the Mexican revolutionary armies on both the eastern and western fronts have been "cut in two" by the federal forces was made in a statement last night by the Mexican Embassy, which said
"defeat of the rebels was administered."The rebel armies on both the eastern and western fronts have been cut in two and the federal forces find themselves in such a position that a decisive defeat of the rebels is imminent," the statement said. "Esperanza, an extremely important railroad center, has been occupied by federals after the severe defeat of the rebel units under General Mayotte Castro, Villanueva, Garza and others. There was a large number of killed, wounded and prisoners.
Among the captives was General Samuel Almazan. In taking Esperanza, the federals defeated the rebels at Canada, Morelos and Palmer Stations before they could advance. In taking Esperanza, the federals have driven a wedge between Oaxaca and Jalisco, which will prevent the union of reactionaries and enable the advance on Vera Cruz to go ahead more rapidly."LEAGUE WANTS AMERICAN TO HANDLE HUNGARIAN LOANFormer Governor of Federal Reserve Board Under Consideration for the Place.LONDON, Jan. 22.—The League of Nations, it is learned here, has been seeking the services of an American to superintend Hungary's finances in connection with the League's $10,000,000 reconstruction loan to that country.W. P. G. Harding, former governor of the Federal Reserve Bank Board of the United States, and now governor of the Boston Federal Reserve Bank, is understood to be under consideration for the post.
The League considers that the appointment of an American of the standing of Harding would assure an impartial handling of Hungary's finances, and would facilitate the efforts of the League to disarm part of the loan in the United States.The officials of the League also are anxious to avoid appointing any one identified with any country having a political interest in Hungary. In the case of the League's loan to Austria, similar efforts were made to obtain an American to administer the finances of that country, but the league was finally obliged to choose a Hollander because it was stated in League quarters, of the disinclination of the Washington Government to identify American interests too closely with the League.SOLDIERS' ANTI-BONUS BODY

Unit of Organization Here Has 150

Members.
A unit of the Ex-Service Men's Anti-Bonus League has been formed here, with about 150 members. Allen C. Orrick, an attorney, is director. Principles of the organization are based on the slogan, "For the disabled, everything; for the able-bodied, nothing."
Pamphlets have been distributed to members, in which it is declared that the demand for a bonus is being made by a strikingly small, but militant, minority, of the organized veteran membership of the nation.
More members are desired by the organization.INQUEST IN WOMAN'S DEATH

The Fir and the Palm

—A Continued Story—
By PRINCESS BIBESCO

SYNOPSIS

Helen, with her husband, Cyril (Lord Hershaw), arrives at the Hershaw country home, one of England's famous country houses. Cyril is passionately in love with his wife, but she is unaware of it. When he married her he had wanted her to throw herself into his arms and instead she had walked up his marble staircase. Cyril was over forty when he married. He found Helen living with her father who was a gambler, in a pension in Italy.

Helen has called on her new neighbors, the Baldwins, for the first time. She has presided at a bazaar given on the Baldwins' estate. Their nephew, Toby, lives in a small house on the estate.

Cyril's mother comes to Helen's court for a visit. Helen, at Cyril's suggestion, invites Toby to dinner to meet her, and finds herself intensely interested in him. She goes to his cottage, where she has dinner alone with him.

Helen gives a house party in the country. Christopher Tyndal, a lifelong friend of Cyril's, is one of the guests. He is in love with Helen. Toby comes over for the dance which Helen gives the first night of the house party. He kisses Helen before he leaves.

Later Helen goes up to London for the season. Cyril joins Christopher in Scotland for a week's shooting. Helen goes back to the country. She and Toby spend a delightful week riding, walking and dining together. When Cyril returns to Helen's court, Toby goes up to London. His mother Helen's friend, Selma, there, Toby decides to go to Tibet. Helen at last discovers Cyril's great love for her.

INSTALLMENT XXXVII.

GOOD-BY TO TOBY.

FOR a moment Helen was staring out of this nightmare back into life.

"So you don't like to have our names linked? Isn't that what they would call it in a magazine story?"

"I don't read magazines. And I wasn't thinking of myself only, but of your husband." ("Fool," he said to himself, "I ought to have said I was thinking only of her.")

"Cyril," with a glow of comfort and gratitude, she realized that she had Cyril in her life, "Cyril is the one person who never needs protecting against ugliness and vulgarity—it glances off him."

Toby flushed. "Well, no man likes his wife being talked about with another man."

Helen felt utterly weary. She didn't seem able to extricate any reality from the conversation. She was too frozen even to be scared by the, to her incredible, angle which he had introduced. Everything Toby said was undeniable and yet altogether remote and irrelevant with nothing whatsoever to do with what she had come to say.

She knew he was tramping on a thousand precious, delicate things and that soon the numbness which had invaded her would give way to the unbearable aching of her bruised and crushed spirit. But for the moment she felt nothing, only in the gray cold twilight of her thoughts an idea came to her.

"Toby," she said, "do you love me?"

"No."

"Have you ever loved me?"

"No."

"I see." The tone of her voice and the look in her eyes were gray and unwavering.

"I don't think you do. No one knows better than I do how wonderful you are."

"No one has had better opportunities of discovering."

Her voice was a ridge of ice.

"You don't need me to tell you about yourself. Every one does it. I am not blind to your magic. Only I happen never to have been in love with you. I may have lost my head, but it was always a loss of my head, never something I wanted to have done. What I wanted was your friendship—I longed for it. I thought we could have had the most wonderful intimacy in the world. You wrecked that by wanting something different, something I could never give you."

"Why didn't you tell me?" It was a little cry, life was returning to her in a flood of pain.

"I thought I had made it so clear."

"No."

SMOKING

A KNIFE FOR EVERY NEED

By Hannah Wing

Authorized Authority on Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

Next time you go into a house furnishings store ask to look at the kitchen equipment. You will find an array of knives adapted to every kitchen purpose, of which you never knew exist.

Look at the paring knives, the prerequisite to comfort in kitchen operations. If you haven't really good one it would pay to invest in one of the new stainless steel ones. These new blades and food from making stains and they never require sharpening. Incidentally you can get stainless steel blades in your dinner knives. This paring knife or any other knife, for that matter, should have a handle that is comfortable. The handle should go all the way through the end of the handle and be shaped fast. The point of the knife should be thin and sharp. Then there are knives especially made for preparing grapefruit. These are a great convenience, and are those especially adapted for lifting boiled fish from a pan.

At home can long run successfully without a spatula, that flexible knife that has its innumerable uses—scrapping mixtures from bowls and so saving time and waste. Dough, muffs from pans, applying frosting to cakes and other things too numerous to mention. A good bread knife, with saw-tooth edge, and a knife for cutting cake also are essential.

Although outside the knife business but still performing a very service are those cutters shaped devices for removing the cores from apples and making potato balls or cutters for carrots or melons into balls. There are still other cutters for slicing vegetables into dainty shapes for soups or special occasions.

TELLS ABOUT

Trying to Save a Hat

MR HENRY E. GAMBLE, seventy years of age, of Malden, Massachusetts, went out for a drive with his friend, Mr. Frank Leathe, in Mr. Leathe's new automobile.

The wind was high and the car was going so fast that it made it seem windier and Mr. Gamble's hat blew off.

It was a good hat and Mr. Gamble did not want to lose it so he jumped out of the car without waiting for the brake.

His hat was saved, but Mr. Gamble will never wear it.

He is dead.

I wonder how many of us are doing just exactly what Mr. Gamble did.

There's the little woman who invites an old friend or two to luncheon—just like that.

And when she goes home she begins to fret about it. She hasn't the right sort of salt dishes and what is really the very latest way to arrange flowers for such an informal little luncheon?

Doing the Wrong Thing.

And she buys some new salt dishes and a new bowl for the flowers and she fusses so over the chicken a la king that her poor little nervous untrained cook simply can't wait on the table at all and she's so worried about her thimble biscuits, and whether the salad is just right or not that she can't think of a thing to say and her friends look at each other and wonder what has come over her all at once.

They talk about it after they leave.

Does her husband neglect her, and is she afraid they know it?

Has he lost his money and is she worried about that?

Perhaps she isn't well—her mother died of some obscure disease.

Dear me, there's nothing the matter with the little woman, she's just trying to save her hat, that's all, and not thinking about the automobile at all.

Her old friends didn't care a cent about the chicken a la king.

Two of them can have that at home any time they like and the third has never touched chicken since she lived in the country so long.

And as for the salt dishes, they never even noticed them, so the poor little woman might just as well have had a good time and let them have a good time without bothering about the hat, or what stands for the hat—after all.

I know a man who's always jumping out of the automobile to grab his hat—and it's such a shabby old hat at that.

The man has a fairly good business and he belongs to a fairly good club and he has some fairly good friends. Is he contented and happy? Does he enjoy a good game of golf after a sharp day's work and then does he go home with a peaceful mind and have a good time with his family?

He does not.

Continually Upset.

His golf club is all right, but he'd like to get into a more exclusive one. And he saw his partner going to dinner with one of the big bankers the other day and when he got home he couldn't eat a bite, wondering what the banker and the partner were discussing—could it be him and his way?

The other day he snubbed one of his best friends he had in the world because he was afraid the "big men" at the luncheon where he met his friend wouldn't understand his friendship—and the "big men" didn't even know he was there.

There's a woman I know who's always jumping out of the automobile to grab her escaping hat—poor thing.

Always forcing herself into company where she is not wanted.

Always pretending to be something she can never be. Always training her children to choose for their friends people of position and influence—poor little things, they're so used to being snubbed that they look like scared babies most of the time. All of the "smart people" the poor woman is so anxious to know laugh at her, and their children make fun of her children—not because they are simple and real, but because they try to pretend to be something quite different.

What does she gain by it?

Poor soul—not a thing in the world that's worth gaining.

Now, if the nice old gentleman in Malden, Massachusetts, had just stopped to think, he could have bought a new hat and saved his life.

I wonder if it wouldn't be a good idea for all of us to have an hour or so a week when we could sit down and stop to think—just for a change.

Maybe we'd get into the habit of it—who knows?

Bathe Your Eyes to Give Them That Beauty Sparkle

By LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

Do your eyes add to the attractiveness of your face? If you honestly feel that they contribute their full share of beauty to your features, it may be that you do not need my advice. If you are in doubt, read what I have to say to you, for you are overlooking a most important beauty fact. If you do not get the full amount of love lines from eyes whose beauty you could easily cultivate.

The charm of lovely, rested eyes is sufficient to dominate your whole facial expression.

Realize this, pause to take account of the beauty care you give your eyes and see if you feel that you do your full share by them.

Do you strain them, and are you careless about using them in bad lights? These are the first two precautions you must take. Only utter carelessness and neglect will permit you to use your eyes when they smart and ache and warn you that they need a rest.

You may feel that you are using them for some very necessary work, work which is even worth your straining your eyes past the aching point. I beg of you to think a long time before you go ahead and allow yourself to bring real harm to the only pair of eyes you'll ever have. If you'll think about it this way, you'll realize how few things are really worth the cost of eye health.

Certainly, if you are reading for pleasure or development, and feel that your eyes are becoming tired and strained, shut your book immediately and rest your eyes. If you are engaged in some very necessary work, it may not be so easy to stop when your eyes warn you it is time to stop, but at least you can close them for a few minutes and give them a very helpful rest.

If they continue to hurt, it will amply repay you to stop work awhile, for some days if necessary. See an oculist and find out what the fault is so you may have it corrected.

Whenever your eyes are exposed to swiftly moving objects avoid letting your eyes rest upon them, for this in itself causes considerable eye-strain. Thus, if you are on a train, you will find it much more restful to look out over the country which you are passing than to look at nearer objects just outside your window.

Changing light, when you are reading or looking closely at something, is very bad. It calls for continual changing of your focus, and this is very, very harmful. Try a little constructive thinking instead. It may be that you seldom have a chance to sit and think quietly, and the opportunity will be good for you.

The following is a simple eye-wash:

Boric acid, 1-3 teaspoonful.

Warm water, 1 glassful.

Procure a small eye-cup, fill with the eye-wash, place directly over your eye and throw your head straight back so the lotion reaches every part of your eye. Repeat several times. You will find that this rests your eyes and helps to give them the beauty sparkle.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

No home is just a thing of scalls; A spirit there insistent calls.

—Danny Meadows Mouse.

DANNY and Nanny Meadow Mouse were back in the great man-bird with the broken wing. It was so good to be there that for two or three days they were perfectly happy. Trader the Wood Rat came over to see them every night. Sometimes there were other visitors, but none save Trader that dared climb up in that man-bird. Once they saw Yowler the Bob Cat staring at it with eyes filled with curiosity and suspicion. He walked around it twice, but he was careful to keep at a distance.

It was moonlight then, and they saw at once that the great man-bird was alone

But one morning, after having been out all night, they were awakened by strange noises. They heard the voices of men. They peeped out. Their friend the aviator had returned, and with him were other men. They came straight to the great man-bird and began looking it over very carefully. Danny and Nanny watched their chance, and when no one was looking climbed out and hid in the grass where they could watch what went on.

Those men went to work on the great man-bird. They began taking it apart. Danny and Nanny watched until they were sure that those men were going to stay right there. They didn't dare go back to their nest in the great man-bird.

"There is only one thing to do," said Danny, "and that is to go back to that other home of ours under the stump. Perhaps these two-legged creatures will go away after a while."

So Danny and Nanny went back to the home under the stump on the edge of the garden. They were thankful to have a home to go to, but at the same time they couldn't bear to think of giving up their home in the great man-bird. All day, whenever they were awake, they heard voices of there. They hoped those two-legged creatures had gone for good. But the next morning they heard them coming again. So once more they scampered back to their home under the stump. So it was that Danny and Nanny for several days lived in two homes. In the daytime they lived in the home under the stump on the edge of the garden. The nights they spent in their home in the great man-bird. Somehow they just couldn't keep away from it. They had made that nest in the little cupboard way back on the Green Meadows up North, and so that great man-bird seemed more like home to them than any home they could make in this strange land of the Sunny South. Every night Trader the Wood Rat visited them and took a lively interest in looking at everything that had been done to that man-bird during the day.

2—Apply Mercirex Cream thinly. Massage gently but thoroughly until the cream penetrates, leaving no trace. It goes quickly to the true skin, killing germ life and neutralizing poisons, thus enabling the true skin to function normally. No other agency promptly eliminates the nucleus of skin disorders and rebuilds damaged tissue in this way.

YOUR skin has two layers, the one on the surface, and a complicated structure of blood-vessels, nerves and millions of tiny glands underneath, known as the true skin. The true skin performs the important work of eliminating waste material from the body, and here nearly all skin troubles develop.

Poisons, germs and infections lodge in the true skin, retarding its work. Then pimples, blackheads, eczema and other blemishes appear on the surface—signals of distress from the true skin. To remove them, it is necessary to restore the true skin to health.

This, the Mercirex Treatment will positively do. You can begin to enjoy the benefits of a flawless skin

The Man on the Sandbox

MISUNDERSTOOD.

O. H. Archie, reports of your prattle have recently come to my ears. To you I was speaking of cattle. But not necessarily steers.

"I think you should go to an artist. And have him examine your drums. Or say it with buds from the florist. When speaking of mythical sums.

"I didn't say 'sixty-eight thousand'." For I was misquoted by you: I simply said, 'six or eight cows and a bull and a heifer or two.'"

SOLVED.

"Pedestrians' Tunnel for Grand and Washington." That solves the pedestrian problem. Put 'em under ground.

The pedestrian nuisance has long been a source of annoyance to automobile drivers. Although they can't get much of a kick out of running over a pedestrian if he is in a tunnel and doesn't know he has been run over.

Wonder if Dr. Coue could solve the pedestrian problem by auto-suggestion.

Just about the time Harry Sinclair was landing in Europe the lid blew off of Teapot Dome. Harry is as good a judge of pace as his star jockey.

Cincinnati having already won the pennant has nothing to worry about. Playing out the schedule will be a mere formality.

Kissing by boxers at the conclusion of fights has been barred by a ruling of the French Boxing Federation. Now if they will go a step farther and bar hugging everybody will be happy.

MAYBE.

"Why is it that the clock always strikes the half hour when you wake up in the night and want to know the time?" Inquires the Glen Elder Sentinel.

Maybe it is because you are only half awake.

The man on the sandbox says the guy who put the "dough" in Debeny did a good job.

If conditions don't improve soon would suggest that the name of St. Louis be changed to Smokeyard.

GETTING THE INSIDE INFORMATION.

ASPRY looking colored youth entered a drug store at Forty-fourth street and Sixth avenue the other day, and dropping a coin into the slot of the pay telephone, asked central for a certain number. When connections had been made, persons near the booth heard him saying this:

"Is dat Miz Henery Pearce speakin'? Well, Miz Pearce, did you want to hire a smart colored boy fur a handy man around yore flat? Ma'm? You say you already is got a boy wukkin' fur you? Is dat so? Wellum, is you satisfied wid him? Den you ain't thinkin' 'bout mekin' a change? Dat's all ma'am."

He put the receiver on the hook and emerged from the booth. The head clerk, who had been one of the ear-witnesses to his remarks, hailed him:

"If you're looking for a place you needn't go any further. Don't you see that sign there in the window saying 'Colored Help Wanted'?"

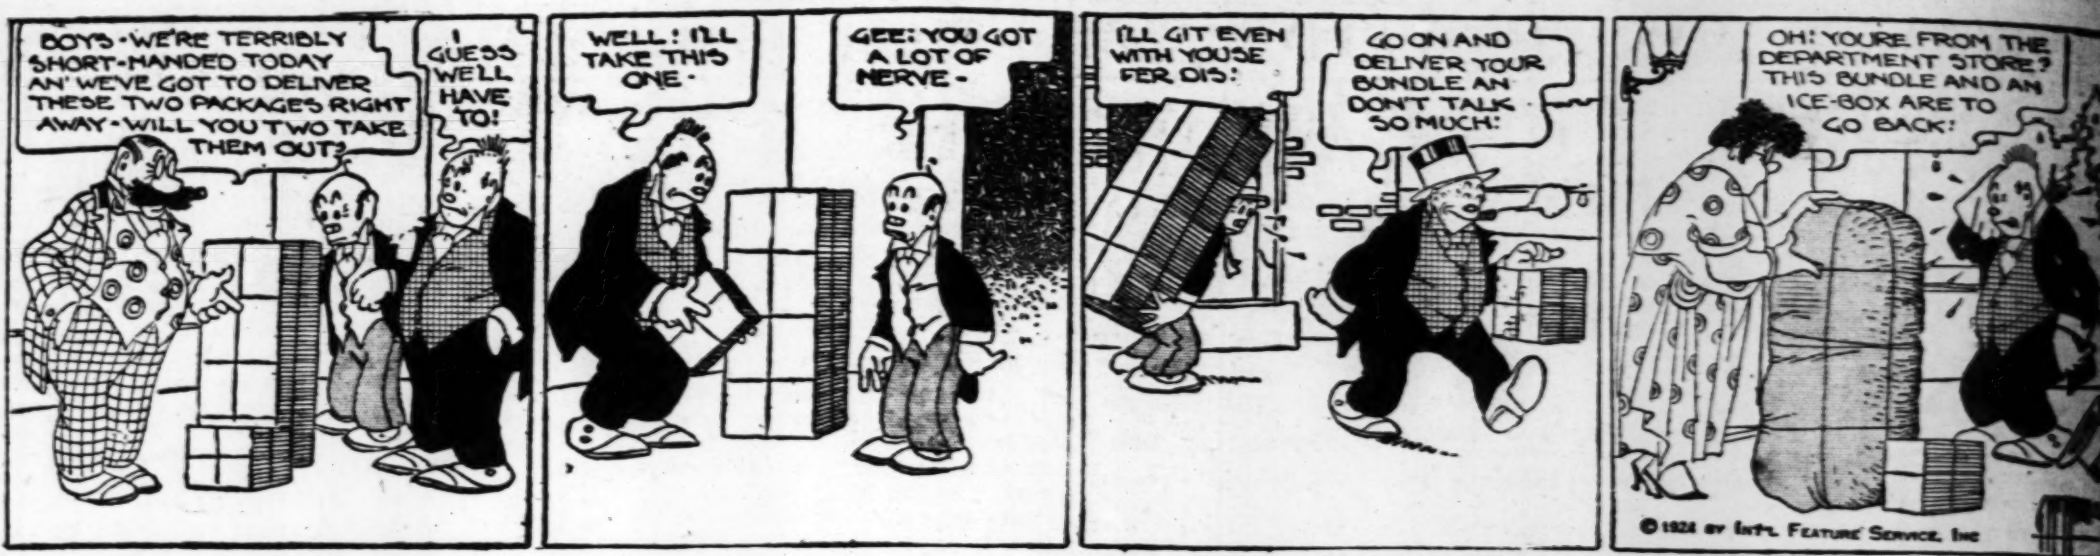

"I ain't lookin' fur no place," said the youth. "I already is got a good job—been wukkin' at it goin' on two weeks now."

"I don't understand," said the puzzled clerk. "Why were you calling up that lady?"

LT. GRIFFIS, WHO TRIED TO KIDNAP
BERGDOLL, FREED

American Army Officer Released on Order From German Government, to Return Home at Once.

WAS SENTENCED TO SERVE 21 MONTHS

"Attitude of the American Public" Given as Reason for Opening Door to Convicted Man.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Corlies Heaven Griffis, of Hamilton, O., imprisoned in Baden for his part in the attempt to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdall, American draft evader, at Ederbach, was released at 6:30 clock this evening and left immediately for Stuttgart. He was accompanied by American Vice Consul Magnusson.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Cor-lies H. Griffis, the American who attempted to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdall, in Germany, has been released from prison by the German Government. The State Department was so advised today.
Griffis' term of imprisonment would have expired in August, 1935.

It is understood that the Berlin Government acted after it had been informed of sentiment in the United States.
Griffis will be returned at once to the United States. The State Department cable from the Berlin Embassy merely reported the fact of his release, adding that he would take first available transportation from Germany to this country.

Action Taken to Comply With

"Values of American People."

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Griffis was paroled by the German Government as a result of the powerful pressure of American public opinion in his favor.

News had been received by the Foreign Office that a munster petition bearing signatures of 2,500 persons was on its way to Berlin, requesting the liberation of the American officer.

It has been feared, however, that complications would arise over the counter-demand for the release of Frederick Gieshoff, who was sentenced in America to 25 years' imprisonment for anti-American activities in war time.

It was tacitly admitted in German official circles that the German Government "would do all in its power to meet the wishes of the American people."

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The Marquis Pecqueur, succeeded Monday in breaking his own record for a sustained flight in a helicopter. He kept in the air 10 minutes 33 3-5 seconds, covering 1000 yards.

Almost two weeks ago he succeeded in staying aloft 6 minutes

Lost at Sea in Small Boat.

By the Associated Press.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Jan. 23.—
A tragedy at Sea-More's Land, a little island 10 miles off the coast, has been known here today when John George W. J. Cook, wife of the caretaker on the island, was reported to the mainland on a duty prisoner and held of her last known home. He was carried out to sea in a small boat by a heavy wind which was blowing. Mrs. Cook, who lives on the island, said she had seen a small boat and was sure it was John. The island is the summer home of Justice Oliver Brandeis.
